THE WAGS IN A BREEZE

FINE PERFORMANCE BY ANNE

The only race in the bay on Saturday was that of the Water Wags, and a strenuous affair it was, even in harbour, the crews having a busy time bailing their craft to keep afloat from start to finish. All the time the westerly wind was freshening, a breeze which was moderate at the start coming within the category of strong during the last three rounds.

Ten boats started at 3.35 p.m., Alfa, Kittiwake and Coquette leading through the line. Almost immediately there was a lame duck, Blue Bird taking too much water aboard and dropping out. At the first mark the order was:—Alfa, Anne, Coquette, Kittiwake, Pansy, Penelope, Marie Louise, Phyllis, Jacqueline. The wind piped up strongly while they were beating up to their next mark. This was the period when most suffered, the puffs, coming from the West Pier and from the coal harbour, being bewildering. Becoming water-logged, Pansy, Coquette and Jacqueline retired at this stage, and at the close of the round Alfa was leading Anne, Phyllis, Kittiwake, Penelope and Marie Louise.

On the next round Alfa got into irons and unmanageable through water aboard, and had to drop out. Anne, however, went like a boat bewitched, Sir Esmond Hodson sailing the race of his life. She lead Kittiwake, Phyllis, Penelope and Marie Louise at the close of the round, and at this period Penelope retired. There were only four survivors now of the ten starters, and these stuck it out to the end, their crews bailing madly save when they were hanging outside on the weather gunwale trying to keep their boats upright. Kittiwake's crew gave a marvellous performance in this way, and evoked a cheer from shore every time his head went under, so far out did he lie. Finish:—

TWO MEN OVERBOARD AT BANGOR

At Bangor on Saturday, when the Royal Ulster Yacht Club's races were in progress, two yachtsmen fell overboard. Mr. J. T. D. Boyd, one of the amateur crew of the Carina, fell overboard on the third leg of the race, but clutched the mainsheet, and was pulled aboard. Just before the start, Mr. J. Austin, sailing on the Astrea, went overboard, but, clinging to some gear, was rescued.

In the "Star" Class there was a close finish. Carona (Messrs. White) was first home, with Windhaven (Messrs. Gardner) second, 11 minutes behind, and Astrea (Messrs. Malcolm) third, 29 seconds later.

Nautch (W. L. Jeames) was first in the Dancers' class, and Jola (Messrs. Johnston and Murdock) won the Clippers.

At Cultra, where the Royal North of Ireland Club's programme was carried through, the winners dere:—"Fairies," Sheevra (W. H. Barnett); "Lakes," Chiquita (J. R. Workman).

BRITISH YACHTS BEATEN

The United States six metre team had another win over Great Britain in the second race of the series for the British-American Cup on the Firth of Clyde on Saturday, scoring 21¼ points against 15. An outstanding performance by the American yacht, Mood, was a feature of the race. She took the lead from the English yacht, Lalage, on the opening beat, and from that point was never in any danger. Mood greatly increased her lead on each of the spinnaker runs and won by a good margin. Lalage was the best of the British yachts and survived a challenge by the American, Indian Scout, for second place.

MORE LEAGUE POINTS FOR ST. JOSEPH'S

ST. JOSEPHS ... 5-5 DOLPHINS ......... 3-1

Continuous rain spoiled the match between St. Josephs and Dolphins in their Senior League game at Kilcoster yesterday. St. Josephs won by a margin of ten points, and retain their unbeaten League record. Newman and Cullen goaled for St. Josephs before Gillen netted for Dolphins. Before the interval Newman (goal), Wellington, Macken and Mulhall (points) scored for St. Josephs, and Carroll (point) and Dingle (goal) for Dolphins, the score then standing St. Josephs 3-3, Dolphins 2-1.

In the second half Mulhall (2 goals and a point), and Wellington (point) increased St. Josephs' lead, while Kavanagh goaled for Dolphins.

HEAVY DEFEAT FOR DUBLIN

KILKENNY IN LEINSTER HURLING FINAL

(By PAT'O.)

KILKENNY ...... 7-8 DUBLIN ............ 1-5

At Wexford Park yesterday, Kilkenny, holders of the title, qualified for the Leinster hurling final against Laoighis, beating Dublin by 7 goals and 8 points to 1 goal and 5 points.

Rain fell heavily throughout the forenoon, yet the crowd touched the 9,000 mark. The weather cleared, but a high wind took something from the quality of the game.

A surprise feature was Kilkenny's wonderful hurling against the wind in the first half. Their ball control and caman work was perfect, and their forwards never erred.

Dublin were set a hopeless task in the second half, but they played very well for twenty minutes, and closed the gap. But when Meagher called on his men for a final rally they responded with a riot of goals.

Dublin's new players were disappointing. Kilkenny now meet Laoighis at Kilkenny on July 26th.

KILKENNY DOUBLES DUBLIN'S SCORE

Playing against half a gale, Kilkenny took the game to the Dublin half, and Duggan placed Dunne to shoot a point in the first minute. Farrell and Culleton saved, but Meagher returned, driving three successive balls, which Culleton and Connelly saved. When Dublin hooked down their forwards were very unsteady. Five wides in a brief space should have brought scores. O'Reilly and O'Connell cleared when Dublin were dangerous. Conniffe sent a long shot to the Kilkenny square, and Feeney doubled a goal through. Meagher, Duggan and Walsh put in some wonderful hurling for Kilkenny, and the whole team moved like a machine.

After McMahon had come through to save, Dunne and Walsh dribbled through, and White put Dunne in possession, to shoot a brilliant goal, setting Kilkenny in front. The Byrnes, Phelan and O'Reilly continued to hurl steadily. Power shot, and Culleton brought off a great save under the bar. Meagher continued to hurl brilliantly. He pointed a free and made an opening for Walsh to put Kilkenny well in front. From Duggan's cross, Power had an opening and shot low to the net. Kilkenny defied the wind, and Meagher had a great point from forty yards. At half-time the score stood:—

Kilkenny 2 goals 4 points.
Dublin 1 goal 2 points.

A GREAT FINISH BY THE CHAMPIONS

On resuming, Dublin hurled a very good third quarter. Donoghue and Wade were busy, and McMahon hit clever balls. The Kilkenny backs were tested, but Blanchfield and O'Reilly saved well, and O'Connell brought down a fast ball from Donoghue. McMahon got a long ball to the Kilkenny area, and Kennedy doubled through for a point.

Canniffe, Farrell, and Connolly were playing far better, but Matt Power raced right through from O'Connell's drive, to slip his man and shoot Kilkenny's third goal. Feeney crossed the return to Downes, who pointed for Dublin, and when Downes turned in Dublin's fifth point the game was again interesting.

Daniels had a handful in Meagher, who was hurling up to his best form. Teehan and Culleton saved for Dublin, but Walsh lifted quickly and pointed, making the score 3 goals 5 points to 1 goal 5 points in Kilkenny's favour.

The wind had died down a little after half-time, but with a quarter of an hour to go it was again blowing briskly. Kilkenny used it very well. Meagher placed a free in the goal-mouth and Dunne netted. Soon Kilkenny were running up a tally score. Phelan and Meagher raised flags, and Duggan had their fifth goal. Wade lobbed through Dublin's last point, only for the champions to race right through for goals by Duggan and White.

Kilkenny—O'Connell, Larkin, O'Reilly, Blanchfield, E. Byrne, P. Byrne, P. Phelan, L. Meagher, T. Leahy, J. Walsh, J. Duggan, L. Carroll, J. Dunne, M. Power, M. White.

Dublin—Culleton, Farrell, Connolly, Teehan, Hayes, Canniffe, McMahon, Wade, Daniels, Quinlan, Downes, Feeney, Donoghue, O'Brien, Kennedy.

WATER POLO

IRELAND'S HEAVY DEFEAT

ENGLAND SCORE ELEVEN AT UXBRIDGE

ENGLAND ......... 11 IRELAND .......... 1

The weak state of Irish Water Polo was again demonstrated at Uxbridge on Saturday afternoon, when England beat Ireland for the twenty-first time by 11 goals to 1, a similar score, by the way, to that on the last match between these countries in England, at Coventry in 1932. (The matches are played every alternate year.)

I was not surprised, writes our Special Correspondent, at the extent of the Irish defeat, which I forecast to be not less than nine goals. To anyone conversant with the technique of the game the Irish forwards were unlikely to be able to hold the English backs, and the sounder part of the Irish team, the defence, was expected, in consequence, to be overworked and outpaced. It proved so on Saturday. Temme, who led up to practically every English goal, repeatedly came through unattended. O'Mahony, Judd and Wallace crossed and recrossed in counter-manoeuvring; and, in the circumstances, did not do badly in keeping the English lead down to four goals at half-time. The Plaistow United forward line were quick to seize the openings provided by Temme and Grogan, and all three scored, each of the wing players, twice, and Sutton, who was in the centre, once beating O'Grady before half-time. O'Brien reduced the lead when England had scored four goals.

SEQUENCE OF GOALS

The crossing tactics of the Irish backs in the second half were ineffective, and the English team added goal after goal in a very one-sided match. Sutton (3), Mitchell (2), and Temme scored. Every member of the English team played well, especially Temme at back, and Sutton forward.

The Irish forwards were blotted out early in the game, and criticism of the defence would not be warranted in the circumstances. O'Grady had no chance with the successful shots.

So long as Ireland is without proper facilities for training for this exacting game, defeats of this nature are inevitable. Lack of baths is the foundation of Saturday's heavy beating, the sixth time that the English score against us reached double figures.

The teams played as selected:—

England—Goal—J. Martin (Burslem). Full-backs—E. H. Temme (Plaistow United) and S. A. Dodd (Coventry). Half-back—D. Grogan (Ashton-under-Lyne). Forwards—W. Martin, R. J. C. Sutton and R. Mitchell (Plaistow United).

Ireland—Goal—K. O'Grady (Clontarf). Full-backs—N. F. Judd (Sandycove) and J. D. Wallace (Pembroke). Half-back—M. A. O'Mahony (Clontarf). Forwards—L. O'Brien (Sandycove), M. D. Fletcher (Dublin University) and P. McClure (Clonard).

LEINSTER SENIOR LEAGUE

DUBLIN ............. 3 DUBLIN UNIV. ... 3

Although M. D. Fletcher was absent on international duty at Uxbridge on Saturday, Trinity were expected to beat Dublin in the Senior League. Dublin, however, as they did against Sandycove early in the week, upset those calculations, and they were good value for their draw.

Dowds, who was a big factor in the Dublin play, opened the scoring with a long shot. Trinity had chances, but were poor forward, and Dublin went further ahead when Dowds made an opening for Barry to score. Daly reduced the lead before half time.

With the wind advantage in the second half, Trinity exerted strong pressure, but the forwards shot badly. After an easy chance had been missed by O'Neill, Taylor, unmarked, scored neatly from Barry's pass. Trinity finished strongly. Daly, by determined swimming, worked out a good opening for O'Neill to score, and near the finish Daniels came through to get the equaliser. Teams:—

Dublin—L. Powderley; E. Kay, W. H. Sexton; F. W. Stephens (captain); F. Dowds, J. C. Barry and W. G. Taylor.

Dublin University—D. W. Greene; P. F. Purcell, B. G. Kearon; H. A. Daniels (captain); H. R. Dockrell, G. L. Daly, C. O'Neill.

Referee—Dr. H. G. Ellerker.

INTERMEDIATE LEAGUE

DUBLIN UNIV. II. 2 DUBLIN II. ...... 1

In an evenly-contested game, Trinity were successful by the odd goal of three, but the result would have been the other way had Dublin taken a single chance to score before Tully shot Trinity's second goal just on full time. Tyrell scored for Trinity in the first half, and Cribben for Dublin in the second. McNamara gave a fine display in the Trinity goal. Mr. T. J. Tallon refereed.

ATHLETICS

A.A.A. CHAMPIONSHIPS

Wooderson and Brown Triumph at White City

S. C. WOODERSON, the young Blackheath harrier and holder of the British record of 4 mins. 10.8 secs., beat J. E. Lovelock, the New Zealander and former record holder, in a great race for the mile title at the Amateur Athletic Association's championships at the White City, London, on Saturday.

A terrific downpour prevented any record-breaking, but Wooderson's time of 4 mins. 15 secs. was excellent in conditions which could hardly have been worse. He won by a yard, and R. Graham, the young Scotsman, was, five yards further behind, third.

A. G. K. Brown, former Cambridge University President, triumphed in the 440 yards, defeating G. L. Rampling and W. Roberts, the holder, in 48.6 seconds, F. F. Wolff, winner in 1935, being fourth.

Wooderson ran a splendidly-judged race to retain the mile championship. Graham led on the first lap, with Wooderson occupying third place and Lovelock just behind him. Wooderson and Lovelock moved up a pace on the second lap. Then J. Cornes, the Oxford Blue, who had been well behind, suddenly came into the picture half-way through the third lap, when he sprinted ahead and set a cracking pace. Lovelock followed him, with Wooderson going easily in fourth place. At the bell the champion went ahead immediately and held off a spurt by Lovelock in the back stretch.

A STRONG FINISH

The New Zealander had one effort left and he went for Wooderson at the last bend. Only a few inches separated them, and for one fleeting moment it looked as though Lovelock would draw level, but Wooderson, who had carefully nursed his speed, also sprinted and at the finish was drawing away.

Brown justified the high hopes held of him in the quarter-mile. He was drawn in the outside lane and ran, therefore, without anyone to pull him along. He kept the lead throughout and could probably have found a little in reserve had he been called upon to do so.

Roberts, after passing Rampling in the back straight, seemed to wilt under the strain in the run-in, and Rampling, with a gallant burst, just managed to beat the holder on the tape for second place.

HURDLES RECORD

Donald Finlay (R.A.F.) won the 120 yards hurdles for the fifth successive year in 14.6 seconds, which broke the British record held by the South African, Syd Atkinson, who did 14.7 in 1928. Finlay won by three yards from J. St. L. Thornton. He has never hurdled better.

One of the most remarkable finishes was provided by the Marathon. After running over 26 miles, D. M. Robertson (Maryhill) and E. Harper (Hallamshire) entered the Stadium together. Robertson, winner on three previous occasions, drew away on the last lap and won by ten yards. Both men finished remarkably fresh.

F. R. Webster beat his own English native record in the pole vault with 12 feet 9 inches, while another English native record to go was in the three miles, in which P. D. Ward (Achilles) returned 14 mins. 15.8 secs., as compared with the previous figures of 14 mins. 17.6 secs.

THE RESULTS

100 Yards—Final—E. M. B. Osendarf (Holland); 2, A. W. Sweeney (holder) (Milocarian); 3, C. B. Holmes (Manchester U.). Time—9 4-5 secs, one foot; one yard.

UNUSUAL COUNTY DOWN CASE

CHARGE OF PERVERTING JUSTICE

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

BANBRIDGE, Saturday.

James Hutchinson Jackson, Casquin, Loughbrickland, County Down, was tried for the second time at the Down Assizes to-day on a charge of perverting the true course of justice. He was indicted at the Assizes in March for having with intent perverted the true course of justice on October 17 last by offering and giving a bribe of £1 to David Fitzsimmons to persuade him to swear false evidence in a case at Banbridge Petty Sessions.

The jury disagreed, and the case was sent forward to the present Assizes.

The jury at to-day's trial found the prisoner not guilty, and he was discharged.

Outlining the case, Mr. E. Warnock, K.C., said that a young girl brought proceedings against prisoner for an affiliation order, and the case was to have been heard at Banbridge Petty Sessions in September, but was adjourned to the October Court. The Crown case was that a couple of days before the proceedings were due to come on in October the prisoner gave a message to a boy named Murphy to ask Fitzsimmons to call and see him. Jackson offered Fitzsimmons £1, and said that there would be £30 more if he would give certain evidence regarding something which occurred on June 19, 1935. The charge in short against Jackson was of corruption and bribing Fitzsimmons to swear against the interests of the young girl.

The defence was a complete denial of the charge.

POWER STATION BURNED

BIG ARDEE FIRE

ARDEE, Sunday.

Ardee electric power station was completely destroyed by fire shortly before midnight on Saturday. The fire raged for two hours, during which the flames shot hundreds of feet high into the air. Oil tanks and batteries exploded at intervals, and were heard at a considerable distance. How the fire originated is apparently unknown, but that it made rapid progress is certain, and rendered the task of extinguishing it impossible.

Civic Guards and a large number of civilians endeavoured to prevent the fire spreading to adjacent buildings containing oil and other inflammable material, and in this they succeeded.

An abundant supply of water was available from the river Dee a few yards distant, but the fact of having no fire fighting equipment was a serious disadvantage, and the water had to be carried in buckets. When a length of hose pipe was attached to the nearest fire hydrant it was discovered to be so defective that it was almost useless.

The difficulty of saving the station and machinery was seen to be impossible, and was abandoned, and everything of value was consumed or destroyed.

Heavy iron girders that supported the roof were twisted and bent, while the engines, dynamoes, batteries, switchboard, and wires were completely ruined, nothing remaining but a mass of wreckage.

The damage is estimated at several thousand pounds.

Mr. Bernard Carberry, one of the engineers in charge, sustained severe burns to his hand while attempting to subdue the fire.

Through the enterprise of Mr. J. W. McKeever, the proprietor, arrangements have been made to provide a temporary supply of current to the townspeople, which was available from to-day.

"Up With the Brave."—When Margaret Moran, of Lanna, Lissycasey, was charged with damaging the Dispensary at Knoppogue, the property of the Clare Board of Health, Sergeant Daly stated that black lead was smeared over the notice-board on front of the building, and painted in white letters was the inscription: "Up with the brave at any cost." There was also the form of a cross painted on the front wall. There was no motive as far as he could ascertain, except to cause a local sensation and have the Guards running around making inquiries. She had done some ridiculous things around the locality. "She is as good a girl as ever lived," said the father of the girl, "and she did this thing more or less as a joke. I will give you a guarantee that she will stop her tricks, and I will pay for the damage to the Dispensary." The Justice adjourned the case for six months.

LONDON STOCK MARKET FEATURES

DOMINION SECURITIES

TREND OF SPECULATIVE ACTIVITY

From Our Financial Correspondent.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON, Sunday.

Two developments of a reassuring character are to be noted—one the reinstatement of quotations of Calgary City issues in the "Official List" following the full payment of the July 1 interest, and the other the denial by the New Zealand Government that it contemplates a debt conversion scheme. No business has been recorded in Calgary stocks since the quotations were restored, and the market for most Canadian Municipal issues is more or less nominal; but New Zealand stocks have rallied sharply, and dealers now quote much narrower prices. If the New Zealand Government does not intend to ask stockholders to accept a lower rate of interest, it is a pity that the original suggestion to this effect was made, for it produced a very disturbing effect upon some investors. It is possible, of course, that when the authorities realised the reception accorded the original report they decided to climb down.

THE FUTURE OF GILT-EDGED STOCKS

Although the monetary situation has now returned to what may almost be termed its normal state of ease, there is no buoyancy in the market for gilt-edged securities. This is not surprising, having regard to the increase in the national expenditure, caused by the acceleration of the re-armament programme, including the strengthening of the Navy. The Chancellor of the Exchequer has prepared the country for a Budget deficit on the next occasion, and, perhaps, investors will be fortunate if the income tax is not raised more than 3d. in the £ next year. Another point is that in the growing demand for credit, consequent upon the exceptional industrial activity, the banks are not likely to add to their holdings of gilt-edged securities. Undoubtedly, purchases by such institutions were largely responsible for the great appreciation in this section during the last two or three years. There is, of course, no reason why holders of 3½ per cent. War Loan and similar stocks should sell, especially if purchases were effected at prices giving a satisfactory yield.

A LIVE MARKET

Because of the acceleration of the re-armament programme, the best department of the Stock Exchange is that for iron and steel and engineering shares. Prices have risen very substantially this year, especially the shares of companies with considerable scope for recovery; but it does not follow that there is serious over-valuation. No trustworthy opinion upon this point can be formed, because of the unknown extent to which the companies will increase profits in the future. To this extent, therefore, many of the shares are speculative; but the prospects are that quotations will further advance during the coming months. In this section merits cannot be appraised on the strength of what the companies have done in the past. Assuming a continuance of the present buoyancy, it is likely that Cammell Laird, Birmingham Small Arms, Hadfields, Harland and Wolff, Vickers and Guest Keen will be among the shares particularly favoured.

HOME RAILS

To date, the four main railways have an increase in gross receipts of over £2,000,000, and, on the basis of the retention of half this as increased net revenue, there should be a substantial addition to the amount available for dividends this year. So far the market is unresponsive to the indications of increasing industrial activity, mainly because of the wage question. If this were favourably settled the market would certainly go ahead, and there would be a considerable amount of speculative buying, induced by the fact that hitherto the stocks have been greatly, if not unduly, depressed. Admittedly, if the claims of the men were fully met there would be a big increase in working expenses. This keeps the market quiet, and in the circumstances the probable savings in connection with payments for local rates are almost ignored.

PROMISING PURCHASES

It is satisfactory that certain stocks to which attention has been directed in these notes have been well supported at a time when the ordinary stocks are almost neglected. Among these are London, Midland and Scottish 4 per cent. Preference and the 1923 issue, London and North Eastern 4 per cent. First Preference and Southern Preferred. These are still worth buying, for in all cases the prospective yield is good, assuming that they all receive their full dividends for the current year. The best returns are 5¼ to 5⅛ per cent. on Southern Preferred and L.M. and S. 4 per cent. 1923 Preference.

OUTSIDERS

It would seem that the buoyancy of Iron, Steel and some other Industrial ordinary shares has stimulated the activities of outside brokers, bucket-shops, and firms that promise substantial profits to those who buy certain recommended shares. Another method of extracting money from the community that appears to be on the increase is the offer of participation in pools which are supposed to be interested in operations in produce, etc. The public should not be tempted by the specious arguments put forward by these individuals or firms, for it is virtually certain that if they succumb they will lose money. Another procedure that is to be strongly condemned is to induce holders of good shares to sell in order to place the proceeds in doubtful shares recommended by the outsiders. There are too many instances where investors have been induced to give up really good securities and to buy rubbish in exchange. Whatever attractions may seem to be offered by outside brokers it is always best to do business direct with a member of a recognised Stock Exchange or through a bank.

THE OUTLOOK

Perhaps it is safe to predict that in the near future Stock Exchange activity will still centre mainly in industrial shares of the kind mentioned above and shares of South African mining companies in the development stage. Gilt-edged securities are not likely to vary much during the next month or two, assuming no development in the monetary or political situation, while foreign government securities, broadly speaking, will be governed by events abroad. Some revival in Home Rails can be looked for with confidence, and it would not be surprising to see a rather better market in the near future for Argentine rails, more especially Preferences, such as Buenos Aires Great Southern 5 per cent. and 6 per cent., and Central Argentine 4½ per cent. and 6 per cent. stocks. Rubber shares are likely to be maintained, if they do not rise further, by the growing improvement in the statistical position of the commodity, while among Oil shares it is considered that Mexican Eagles have as good prospects as any of appreciation in the future.

NEW CORPORATION LOANS

It is rather a pity that more attractive terms are not offered for the new issues by the Corporations of Birkenhead and Nottingham. The interest rate and the price of issue are the same as for the various 3 per cent. Municipal loans floated earlier in the year. Those loans were not readily taken up by the public, and for a considerable time the gilt-edged market was congested by a mass of stock held in the hands of underwriters. The two new issues, for which the lists will open and close to-morrow (Tuesday), carry 3 per cent. interest, and are offered at 99, terms which appear to make no allowance for a possible decline in gilt-edged securities generally during the next 12 months owing to the prospective Budget deficit, and, perhaps, an addition to the burden of taxation. Obviously every rise in the standard rate of income tax reduces the net yield on fixed interest bearing securities to those who are assessed for the full amount.

MANCHESTER MARKETS REVIEW

QUIET TRADE

From Our Commercial Correspondent.

With the holidays in full swing in many of the industrial towns of Lancashire there has again been no great amount of activity in the provision trade in this centre during the past week, but, taken all round, values have been fairly well maintained. Smaller shipments of bacon and eggs were reported from Denmark and Sweden to Northern ports last week-end, but consignments of butter were larger. The Danish official quotation for butter has this week been wired 18 kroner higher, and "top" now stands at 218 kroner per 100 kilos; at the corresponding period last year the figure was 164 kroner, and in 1934 130 kroner. Continental makes firm and dearer in sympathy with the official quotations. Irish creameries and Colonial are also in active demand at higher prices, as compared with last week. Total shipments of Australian and New Zealand butter on passage to this country show little change, and are again above last year's corresponding figure. Production of Australian and New Zealand continues to decline and remains in the aggregate on a substantially smaller scale than a year ago. Reports from Denmark state that production in that country has been decreasing quite noticeably during the past few weeks, owing to the drought, and, although there has been some rain of late, it will be some time before milk production will return to normal. The bacon market closes firm, but the unsettled state of the weather is causing buyers to operate cautiously. Spot prices for Irish have advanced 1s. per cwt. At the weekly meeting of the Manchester Bacon Committee English No. 3's were also advanced 1s., and all selections of Danish, Swedish, Dutch and Polish 1s. per cwt. The egg market opened firm for all descriptions, but an easier feeling prevailed towards the close of the week.

LIVE-STOCK.

At the Manchester Cattle Market on Tuesday last, although both Irish and home-fed fat cattle were penned in rather larger numbers, the supply is still comparatively small. There was a fairly substantial increase in the number of lambs on offer. In fat cattle best small weights met with a good clearance, and other descriptions were also in fair request; values generally ruled firm. Lambs were plentiful, and sellers had to grant concessions to induce business. At the Manchester Pig Market trade generally ruled slow; but, with light supplies, prices have ruled fairly steady. Business at the Manchester Meat Market has been slow throughout the week. Home-killed beef and lamb show little change, but fat calves are scarce and dear. In imported meat chilled beef ruled firm on lighter supplies, and mutton and lamb fairly steady.

Dead poultry in quiet request, and prices tend in buyers' favour. Salmon and grilse in fair supply and demand, with the latter showing a firmer tendency. Irish salmon closes at 1s. 6d., and grilse 1s. 3d. to 1s. 4d. per lb. (wholesale).

Colonel Frederick Kiddle, C.M.G., Colchester, suddenly fell dead in Ostend maritime station on Saturday. Colonel Kiddle was born in 1871. He belonged to the R.A.M.C.

IRISH BANK REPORT

NATIONAL BANK

The report and balance sheet of the National Bank for the half-year ended June 30th, 1936, appear in our columns to-day. The net profit is £110,771, against £109,812 for the first half of 1935. The dividend is maintained at 12 per cent. per annum; £10,000 is again placed to reserve, and £10,000 to premises account. Last year this sum was placed to contingencies. Deposits and advances show very slight changes. Cash has increased by £771,614, compared with June last, and investments are about £833,000 lower. The meeting will be held in Dublin on the 30th inst. at noon.

Speculation Active

Speculative operators are becoming more active. They have turned from oils to rubbers and mines (says The Observer). Rubber shares are being bought in large parcels from a market not too well supplied, and prices are rising. The commodity position is becoming favourable as stocks decrease and consumption rises. A good estimate totalling 51,000 tons has been made for the United States consumption in June, and July will, it is thought, be still better. Eightpenny rubber has been nearly achieved. In gold mines a considerable amount of "in and out" operations has been seen, particularly in the non-producers with prospects. West Africans have come into the picture again, while Westralians have also been in demand. There is a large professional element in the business in progress, however, and anyone taking a hand in the movement should use discrimination.

Paper Merger Finance

Details were issued on Saturday of the financial arrangements in connection with the purchase by Bowaters Paper Mills, Ltd., from Allied Newspapers, Ltd., of 830,890 Ordinary £1 shares of the Edward Lloyd Investment Company, Ltd. The purchase gives Bowaters the control of Edward Lloyd, Ltd., and the merger will give the group a combined output of 500,000 tons of newsprint per annum, or 60 per cent. of the total manufactured in Great Britain. One of the terms of the purchase is that the £3,000,000 of Edward Lloyd Investment Company's 4½ per cent. Debentures shall be redeemed. Bowaters have agreed to provide finance for this purpose. This will be carried out as follows:—700,000 new 7½ per cent. Preference shares in Bowaters will be offered for public subscription at a premium to be announced later. The present 7½ per cent. shares have a market value of 32s. 6d. 500,000 new Ordinary shares in Bowaters will be offered to the Ordinary shareholders of the company on bonus terms, to be announced later. The present Ordinary shares have a market value of 35s. The dividend in the past two years has been 5 per cent. 250,000 6½ per cent. Preference shares in Bowaters will be placed privately at a premium. The present 6½ per cent. Preference shares are valued at 28s. 2,000,000 5 per cent. £1 redeemable Preference shares in the Edward Lloyd Investment Trust will be issued for Debenture conversion purposes. The balance of the finance required will be found out of the cash resources of Bowaters Paper Mills, Ltd.

Coats v. Courtaulds

For some time past the prices of Coats' units and Courtaulds' shares have been running neck-and-neck, and the question as to which is the cheaper investment of the two is interesting (writes the Sunday Times). Coats at 50s. yield 4 per cent., or about the same as Courtaulds at the same price, allowing for dividends on the latter being paid free of tax. But Coats have usually distributed a bonus in addition to their 10 per cent. dividend. The absence of this bonus in respect of the past year was largely due to the lower return on the capital invested in the United States, but there is no reason to expect a further fall in the company's American profits, and if conditions improve it will reap its share of the benefit. Both Coats and Courtaulds have vast interests abroad, and are largely dependent upon factors over which they have no control. Courtaulds, we think, stand to gain most from the ending of sanctions against Italy, for the Snia Viscosa business is one which under normal conditions should yield a very satisfactory return. Courtaulds have big profits in Germany for which no credit is taken in the accounts, but, as the Coats chairman said, referring, of course, to his own company, "the process of unfreezing dividends and interest will present a very difficult problem, even after the exchanges have become normal." As we see it, both are excellent investments for those who are satisfied with a small immediate return and are sufficiently optimistic to believe that the current drawbacks to international trade will be removed. Possibly the fact that Courtaulds do a larger proportion of their trade within the British Empire should count in their favour.

LONDON MONEY MARKET

ANOTHER HUGE GOLD PURCHASE

In the Discount market rates remained easier in tendency under the influence of the previous day's Treasury bill result. The rate for three months' fine bank drafts was little better than 9/16 per cent., although in some transactions 9/16 per cent. more was secured. A small business between brokers and the clearing banks continued on the basis of ½ per cent. for September maturities, but there were practically no dealings in the "hot" Treasuries for delivery next week.

The demand for short loans was extremely limited, and lenders readily accepted ½ per cent. for fresh funds until Monday.

Gold was marked down 4d. to 138s. 8d. per fine ounce, but the premiums on the French parity broadened from 4d. to 6d., there being a keen demand for the £173,000 of the metal offered. On the American parity the premium decreased slightly from 6d. to 5¼d. From India the week-end gold shipments will reach the substantial amount of £888,000.

The Bank of England purchased a further £1,070,358 in bar gold, making a total of £3,130,549 since the last Bank return.

General selling of bar silver was responsible for a fall of 1/16d. in the price, to 19 5/16d. per ounce for cash; 19⅜d. for two months forward delivery.

The overnight weakness which developed in the franc was again in evidence, due to speculative selling. For immediate delivery French currency was at one time offered up to 76¼ for the pound, the final quotation being 76 3/16, against 76.00. Other gold bloc currencies tended to improve in terms of sterling, slightly easer rates being quoted on Amsterdam and Berne. Dollars were dull, with the franc at 5.02 11/16 against 5.02½.

WHERE RAIN IS WELCOME

From Reuter's Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Sunday.

Rain in the Middle West States and thunder showers in the Eastern States to-day herald the ending of the heat wave that has caused 84 deaths in New York City itself during five days, and 740 deaths in the United States since the beginning of July. The highest temperature in New York to-day was only 91 degrees Fahrenheit in the shade, compared with the recent record reading of 102 degrees.

UPWARD TREND IN WALL STREET

Reuter's Telegrams.

NEW YORK, Saturday.

The belief prevailed on Wall street to-day that American industry and business will maintain its current stamina despite the seasonal influences. Trading was the most active for a Saturday since the beginning of April, the general list ending on the higher side on a turnover of 870,000 shares.

The close was steady with gains of fractions to 1 dollar in the Railway group, extending to 4 dollars in a few individual issues elsewhere. On further reflection of the news regarding the drought the Farm Implement dividend declined slightly.

Call money was nominal. Prime paper was quoted at ¾ to 1 per cent. Open market discount rates were unchanged at 3/16 per cent. bid and ⅛ per cent. asked for ninety-day bank bills, and ¼ per cent. bid and 3/16 per cent. asked for six months' bills.

Sterling exchange opened 1/16 up at 5.02 11/16, and improved during the morning to 5.02⅞. The rate finally closed 1/16 higher—compared with the previous close—at 5.02 11/16.

No official silver price was fixed in New York to-day.

The market to-day was moderately active, with sentiment rather more reactionary. Prices early declined on adverse Liverpool cables and Liverpool and Continental selling and hedging, together with week-end profit-taking and the uncovering of a few stop-orders. Some trade demand and Wall street and Far Eastern buying and covering appeared on the decline. Importance was attached to the fact that the Crop Reporting Board has included cotton among the crops needing rains. There is some evidence of more loan cotton coming out in the South. The close was steady, but values were 6 to 11 points lower. At New Orleans spot closed 12 points down at 13.32. Futures opened 3 to 5 points down and closed 7 to 15 points lower.

AMERICAN FINANCIAL NOTES

DIVIDEND INDICES.

The Standard Statistics Company states that favourable dividend changes during the past week numbered 41, compared with 36 in the previous week and 68 the week before. The unfavourable actions were 1, nil, and 8, respectively.

POOR CONDITION OF AMERICAN TOBACCO CROP.

The Agricultural Department reports that on July 1 the condition of the tobacco crop was 57.2 per cent. of normal, which is the lowest in history. It is said that as a result of the drought both stand and growth are generally irregular, with the production forecast at 1,114,000,000lb., or 14 per cent. below last year, and 22 per cent. below the average of 1928-'32.

HIGHER PRICES FOR AMERICAN STEEL SCRAP.

Prices of steel scrap at Pittsburg have been advanced by 25 cents per ton.

UNION OIL OF CALIFORNIA'S POSITION

The Union Oil Company of California reports for the second quarter a net profit of 1,600,000 dollars—equal to 36 cents per share—the same as for the second quarter of 1935. The net profit for the first six months amounted to 2,000,000 dollars—equal to 45 cents per share—compared with 2,950,000 dollars (67 cents) for the corresponding period of last year.

NEW YORK METAL MARKET REVIEW.

COPPER—Demand and consumption have both been steady on the firmness abroad and the improving domestic undertone. Producers' export price gained 5 on the week, and closed at 9.25. Standard futures finished 2 to 3 points higher.

TIN—After advancing in sympathy with London, the market slowed down, with traders very cautious and awaiting signs of stability at the higher prices. Spot New York gained 2.62½ on the week, and closed at 43.37½, while the quotation for thirty days gained 2.75 and closed at 42.87½. The ninety days' price gained 2.50 on the week, and closed steady.

TIN PLATES—Continuing the recession, operations at present are at 95 per cent., and are likely to suffer from curtailed food packing as a result of the drought. The price per box f.o.b. Pittsburg basis was unchanged at 5.25 dollars.

STEEL—Production is trending downward, though heavy shipments against existing orders are preventing a sharp decline in mill operations. At the same time, demand from the railroad and structural industries is offsetting the curtailment of automotive and agricultural requirements. Scrap prices have strengthened further. The labour situation is still uncertain, but has not yet induced any sizeable covering against strike shutdowns.

IRISHMAN'S DIARY

The Battle of Aughrim : Love of Flowers : Trace Horses : Coronation Fashions

Weeds

I am glad to see that Dr. Ryan, Minister for Agriculture, has decided to take strong action against farmers who permit noxious weeds to grow on their land. But, still, I am always sorry for the farmers, whose tribulations are sufficiently numerous without the added responsibility of having to remove their rag weeds. I suppose it is rag weeds the Minister has in mind when he talks of noxious weeds, because I have noticed great growths of these rather colourful weeds through the fields of County Dublin. Frankly, I was surprised at seeing them in County Dublin, because more than ten years ago, I know, the Northern Government imposed fines of £40 on any Six County farmer who did not cut his rag weeds. Dr. Ryan's Noxious Weeds Bill only provides for fines of half that amount, which is letting the Saorstat farmer down lightly. Folk in search of jobs should thank their stars for weeds, as it seems the Minister may have to appoint inspectors to keep same in order.

Love of Flowers

There are some things about Dublin which I find amazing: the apparent laxity of many people who own visible gardens, and the tremendous energy and ingenuity of those who do not possess a precious plot of ground. One of these moments occurred to me a few days ago, when, passing along a wide street, which is rapidly falling into the worst state of slumdom, my eye was caught by a glowing mass of colour in a small " area," well below the street level. In this restricted place, perhaps ten feet long by three feet wide, the occupant of the " lower depths " had contrived a really beautiful display of flowers. And it was not a case, such as may be found in Connacht, of a man or a woman " making the land " ; the display was all from small wooden boxes, such as may be had from the small shops in the locality. The nasturtium, of course, figured conspicuously in the display, but only as a background to pinks, yellows, reds, blues and violets of many flowering plants. The owner of this display is certainly a lover of flowers, who would probably do splendidly with a small garden, but as his circumstances are now his horticultural success merely takes away the little light and air that would normally be available from his living-room.

Coronation Modes

This time next year all our womenfolk will be walking round in kirtles. Perhaps you will say this news is ridiculously premature, yet already every London dressmaker is occupied with the problem of designing next year's Coronation fashions. Come what may. Court dress will have to be provided, and it will have a decided effect upon all feminine styles, whether they be those which belong to the peeress or the peasant. Magnificent fabrics are already being designed in readiness for the Earl Marshal's announcement with regard to what style is to be followed for the Coronation. Should the Earl Marshal decide to be guided by mediæval precedent at the Coronation of King Edward VIII., the decree will be for the robe and kirtle. The robe is really a cape, with a train varying in length according to the rank of the wearer. The garment which rejoices in the strange-sounding name of kirtle is really a velvet gown which displays a panel of lace or some rich fabric in front to give the effect of a petticoat.

Blessed Oliver Plunkett

I should think the pilgrimage to the shrine of Blessed Oliver Plunkett, in St. Peter's Church, Drogheda, yesterday, must have been one of the most interesting events of its kind. That distinguished Churchman, who became a victim of the age he lived in, was a man of vast ability, whose talents, had he been spared, could have served his country in many ways. Oliver Plunkett was the Titular Primate of All-Ireland. His martyrdom, in 1681, was due to what was fantastically known as the Popish Plot. It is a bit of a journey through Time since 1681, but I doubt if human nature has changed much since then. Clever men are still sacrificed! Oliver Plunkett was a member of an old Danish family who settled in Ireland centuries before the Norman Conquest of England. The Earl of Fingall is the present head of those Catholic Plunketts, and he, too, is named Oliver Plunkett.

The Battle of Aughrim

July 12th is the anniversary of the Battle of Aughrim, fought in 1691, when General St. Ruth was killed. St. Ruth was a Frenchman, who commanded the forces of James II. and his French supporters. He was met at Aughrim, near Ballinasloe, by General Ginkel, who commanded the forces of William III. St. Ruth was hit by a cannon ball, and the Irish were routed with great slaughter. Their defeat at Aughrim rendered the adherents of James II. in Ireland incapable of any further efforts in the Stuart cause. After that battle the complete submission of the country followed. The only memento of those unlucky Stuarts left to the Ireland of to-day is the notorious " Twelfth," which the adherents of William of Orange insist upon celebrating. With all their faults, I think the Stuarts were still more interesting than William, but why anyone should trouble about either of them nowadays is difficult to understand.

Moonlight on the Mountains

A mountain climbed by moonlight has a charm all its own, and in the stillness of the night, far above the level of human habitation, there is that rare sense of almost ethereal solitude, so seldom attained in the light of day. I enjoyed this experience recently on the slope of one of the Sligo mountains. It was midnight, and no sound arose from the plain below, save the hoarse croaking of, seemingly, innumerable corncrakes conversing with each other in raucous chant. The dew lay in heavy white rime on the map-like surface of the world beneath, and the distant lights of the town twinkled through the faint mist, as remote and unearthly as the stars themselves, the headlights of a solitary car wending its way homeward creating a meteoric effect.

In the western sky the last rays of the departed sun still glowed faintly, and even where the high rocks shut out the moonlight, so clear was the sky that it was possible to read the figures on a watch. Lough Gill sparkled like a silver shield where the moon hung low, and westward, Sligo Bay stretched itself into the mist, while Knocknarea stood, a rugged sentinel, keeping watch and ward over the peaceful scene.

Trace Horses

When the " trace horse " makes its appearance at Cork Hill, as is now suggested it soon will, the animal will be a revival of an old custom rather than something quite novel to a humanitarian age. Twenty-five to thirty years ago the " trace horse " was a familiar feature on every steep incline in Dublin, and many Dubliners will still remember the relays of horses retained for this purpose by the Tramway Company in its horse-traction days. The Tramway Company kept its " trace horses " at Cork Hill, and also at the very steep incline at Mount Brown, which is now known, I believe, as " Kent's Fort." Guinness's and some of the other Dublin breweries of that time—there were then some half-dozen or more—also kept " trace horses " for relief work on the inclined streets leading to the Liffey level. At Steevens's lane and Bridgefoot street they were so familiar that everyone knew them, and were so essential that their drivers had marked spots at which to wait. At these spots the drivers had their seats, and there they would be seen from early morning until fairly late in the evening. And it was not entirely due to the advent of motor traction that they disappeared; they had gone long before the motor lorry achieved domination of the road.

VISITORS TO THE MANSION HOUSE

Among those who called on the Lord Mayor of Dublin at the Mansion House last Saturday were Mr. James Kennedy, a native of Ballyhaise, Co. Cavan, who resides at Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, Canada, and Mrs. Kennedy; Mr. Orville Griffith Waring and Mrs. Waring, Plainfield, New Jersey, and Mr. L. J. A. Coughlan and Mrs. Coughlan, of Durban, all of whom are on a holiday in Ireland.

Mr. Coughlan, who was educated at the Christian Brothers' School, James's street, Dublin, brought an introduction from Mr. Fleming Johnston, Mayor of Durban. The Mayor of Durban, in his letter, informed the Lord Mayor that Mr. Coughlan was a member of the Durban City Council for the Greenwood Park Ward, and principal of a land and estate business there.

YOUNG IRISH ARTISTS' WORK

EXHIBITION OPENED IN DUBLIN

Dr. Dermod O'Brien, President, R.H.A., on Saturday declared open the exhibition of the Irish Arts Society at 195 Pearse street, Dublin.

Mr. O'Brien said that the Royal Hibernian Academy did not close its doors to any artist, young or old, who was sincere about his work. It was a pity, however, that no hall in the city could be obtained at a reasonable charge, so that the pictures could be displayed to better advantage. It was discouraging to artists to find that their pictures could not be shown under the best conditions.

He hoped, however, that many Dublin people would come to the exhibition and see what young Dublin artists were capable of doing. There were many features in the exhibition which showed much promise, and he was glad to see that the Society was in a position to bring before the public the work of young and promising artists.

Dexterity with the brush, he continued, was of little use unless the artist had a story to tell and told it faithfully. A lot of pictures, although technically correct, were dead because they had nothing to tell.

The exhibitors include K. Uhlemann, G. Bruen, J. Connolly and J. Fitzpatrick.

WEDDING IN LONDON

MR. J. F. F. EUSTACE AND MISS N. A. DIAMOND

The marriage took place on Saturday last in St. James's Church, Sussex Gardens, London, of Mr. John Frank Fawcett Eustace, eldest son of the late Mr. Benjamin F. Eustace, J.P., and Mrs. Eustace, Hillside Farm, Glasnevin, County Dublin, and Miss Natalie Annette Diamond, of Johannesburg, South Africa. The ceremony was performed by Canon Harrison Thompson, formerly of Doorfontein, South Africa.

The bride, who was given away by Colonel B. C. Bartley, Johannesburg, wore an ivory satin dress, with a tulle veil arranged from a head-dress of orange blossoms. She carried a sheaf of pale pink roses. Miss Noël Thompson, Miss Beryl Eustace (the bridegroom's sister), and Miss Joan Starbuck (a cousin of the bride) were bridesmaids. They each were wearing long Victorian dresses of pink moire, with head-dresses to tone, and Victorian posies completed their toilettes. Dr. H. Jocelyn Eustace acted as best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held at No. 10 Craven Hill, Lancaster Gate, by the bride's great-aunt, Mrs. M. E. Diamond, who wore a black and beige dress, with a shoulder spray of red carnations and a hat to tone. The bridegroom's mother was in a dark steel grey satin ensemble, with a matching hat.

During the afternoon the bride and bridegroom left for a motor tour in the South of England. The bride wore going away a dove grey cloqué two piece, with a navy blue hat.

Among the guests were:—Mrs. B. F. Eustace, Miss B. Eustace, Dr. H. J. Eustace, Mrs. E. A. Best, Miss Gifford, Miss Thomas, Mrs. Musgrave, Lady Musgrave, Miss Musgrave, Mrs. Low, Miss Low, Mrs. M. S. Eustace, Mr. W. D. Eustace, Sir John and Lady Broadbent, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Broadbent, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Monkton, Miss Megaw, Mr. C. B. Gifford, Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Lowry, Mrs. Gerald Maconchy, Miss B. E. White, Mrs. R. Neilson, Mr. and Mrs. H. Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Millar, Mr. G. G. M. Symes, Miss Ann Henderson, Col. and Mrs. Bartley, Mrs. Fricker, Miss Griffith, Dr. Norah Brown, Miss J. W. Brown, Mrs. Park, Mr. C. Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. Starbuck, Mrs. Henwood, Mrs. Le Fanu, Mrs. Harrison Thompson, Sir George and Lady Broadbridge, Mrs. Charles Mark, Major and Mrs. Collins Wells, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stephenson, Mrs. Hutchinson, Miss M. Moor.

Next Saturday's Race at Tallaght

Twenty-Nine with Fighting Chances : A Run in a Compression Engined Car : T.T. Lap Record Reflections : Grosser Preis von Europa

BY HAROLD C BROWN

THOUGHTS naturally turn to Tallaght with the Leinster Trophy car race due to be decided on Saturday next. The entry is a fair mixture of local talent and cross-Channel expert, which, as we saw at Bangor, can produce quite a thrilling contest.

Bangor, of course, was dominated by the Alfa-Romeo and Austin affair. I have been given a privileged look at the Tallaght handicap, and I don't think that the race will work out in the same way. Nearly everyone seems to have a fighting chance, and interest should not be confined to the limit or scratch men.

There is, indeed, some tasty stuff right in front of Connell. Conan Doyle's Bugatti, for example, may fare well if driven with a nice discretion, while Hanson's Q-type Midget should be just the thing for this course. Ivo Peters must be regarded as an exceptionally skilful driver, and if the car runs at all well he should be placed.

The other Conan Doyle car turns out to be a seven-litre Mercedes, which is not exactly the size of machine one would choose to handle in the Leinster Trophy race. If Mervyn White drives like he did at Cork he will either go through the handicap or a hedge.

The Middle Markers

NEITHER can those lads in the middle of the handicap be left out of the reckoning. " A. N. Other " turns out to be our young friend, Barrington, who definitely is worth watching; ffrench Davis has terrific speed in that Fiat, if the exceptionally high compression ratio does not prove a mixed blessing; and Manders, in the big Adler, is something of a mystery, as no one is certain what this car will do.

The Bilney Ford is another machine at which the handicappers must have guessed, in the absence of reliable data. Toohey is being asked to travel faster than last year, and they say he can do it. Although we have more information about MacLachlan than any other driver in Ireland, one never can be sure about him. If the works revolve properly he could win as nicely as any.

Up in the front is an assortment of M.G.'s and things of varying ages and capabilities. I like the chance of McCalla in the Sullivan Special—if that car would only go as well as it did in the Park. MacArthur does not seem to be roughly treated, and David Yule has a chance, if he could only produce the speed that he has been seeking so long in that Yule-Cox-Morris contraption.

On paper, anyway, it seems to be a race full of promise.

Practising

A LOT about the prospects of the different drivers may be learned from the practising, at which the grand stand and car parks will be open free to those in possession of race programmes.

In a news bulletin the promoters tell us that a public address system will be operating on Saturday, and that information from points around the course will be communicated to Tallaght, and announced to the spectators.

Those who are unable to attend the race may learn about it from the radio account—to be broadcast from the Dublin Station between 2.50 and 3.20 p.m., and between 4.50 and 5.20 p.m.

The prizes will be distributed at a supper dance, to be held in the Gresham Hotel on the night of the race.

Crude Oil

FUEL consumption of 50 m.p.g. reminds one of motor cycling days. And fuel at 1s. 1d. per gallon recalls pre-petrol tax days. Yet many of us, before many years are past, may be driving Diesel-type engined cars, and reaping the advantages of exceptionally low consumption and cheaper fuel at that.

There has been a great deal of study and development of the crude oil engine in recent years, and the fact that the International Association now recognises world's records made with such engines is an indication of the progress that has been made.

Perhaps a better term than crude oil engine is compression ignition engine. There are no sparkling plugs, no magneto, no electrical equipment whatever apart from the self-starter, the firing of the mixture being a consequence of the enormously high compression—around 16 to 1—at the time it is injected through atomisers, each with minute orifices of .003 inches.

The valves, incidentally, have taken in air only, the fuel coming in through the atomisers, which might be mistaken for a funny sort of sparking plugs in the side of the cylinder heads.

Simplicity

LAST week I spent an hour with S. R. Sheane, whom many, no doubt, know as a driver in races and trials, and his Diesel-engined Standard car, and in a trip around the outskirts of Dublin I learnt quite a lot about the compression ignition unit.

The whole thing, of course, is of great simplicity. The fuel is drawn from the ordinary fuel tank, taken through a filter, piped to another filter, and then to the injection pump, which forces it up to the atomisers already mentioned. Through the atomisers it goes into the cylinders, where the air is reaching the peak of its compression: it fires automatically and, well . . . the music goes round and round, and that's that.

The elimination of the electrical parts is, of course, a great advantage. There are very few components which can go wrong. The most complicated section is the injection pump, and Mr. Sheane assured me that any competent mechanic would understand its operation and adjustment.

The engine in Mr. Sheane's Standard was a Perkins Diesel of approximately 17.9 h.p. (R.A.C. rating), and his consumption he placed at 50 m.p.g.

Power

AS to my impressions of the machine I will be quite honest. There is a sensation of great power, and once the engine gets under way it feels and sounds more like a six than a four. The whole thing is delightfully smooth and comfortable at all speeds from 25 m.p.h. up to 55 m.p.h.

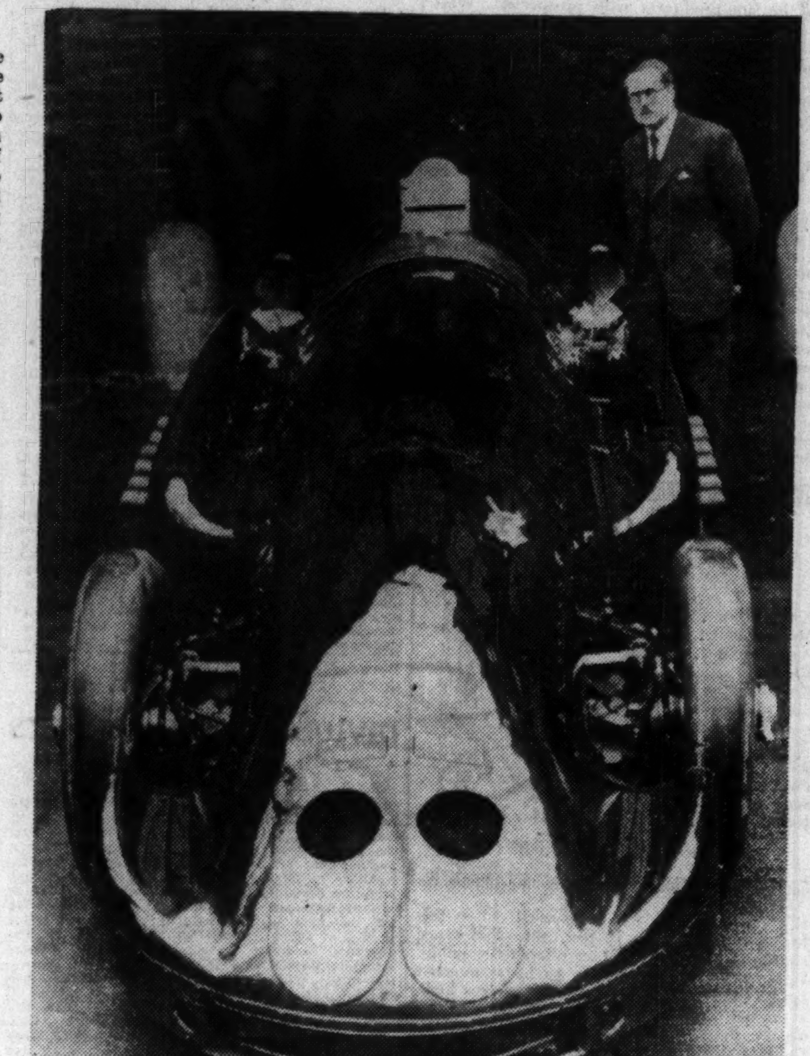

It is funny how scarce real hills seem to be when you want them. We found one, however, which is normally taken in second and on which I have known cars to puff and blow. The Perkins-Standard sailed up this in top gear. Indeed, there is such power that the use of the lower gears is never called for, except in traffic.

The engine has a revolution peak of about 4,000, and on the brake it develops 50 h.p. It was with one of these engines that Rex Munday averaged from 88 to 94.7 m.p.h. in breaking a number of compression ignition class records at Brooklands in October last.

When the engine is idling or running light at very low speed there is a sort of Diesel knock and some vibration.

It is the intention of Messrs. Haskins Brothers, of Wicklow, to whose firm Mr. Sheane is attached, to assemble Perkins engines in the Free State. They hold the agency for the whole of Ireland. He told me that the cost of fitting a Diesel into an ordinary car would be about £180-£200.

One last word, about odour. I noticed none when the car was in motion and very little when it was stopped with the engine running.

COMPRESSION IGNITION—Captain G. E. T. Eyston, with his Diesel-engined car, " Flying Spray," in which he had broken a number of compression ignition speed records at the Bonneville Salt Flats.

Woods's Other Achievement

ONE aspect of the motor cycle Tourist Trophy Races in the Isle of Man that we nearly overlooked was Stanley Woods's two lap records in the Lightweight and Senior events, and the fact that this brings his total of fastest laps up to nine.

Up to this year W. L. Handley had returned the fastest laps in more races than anyone else, but now he and Woods have the same total. J. H. Simpson has made the fastest lap in eight races, Alec Bennett in four, and F. W. Dixon in three. Is it not strange that no other rider has had fastest lap more than twice, and that the twice fastest number only two—G. E. Nott and P. Ghersi?

Greatest record of all, however, is that of Woods in making fastest lap in four successive Senior T.T. Races, and on four different makes of machines—Norton, Husqvarna, Motoguzzi and Velocette—which shows how much the rider counts. At least two of these machines were not the fastest in their races.

Note from Germany

HARRIE PALMER, Race Secretary of the Ulster Grand Prix, air mails me a note from Chemnitz. He and his wife, May Palmer, formerly about the best of our women trials riders, are having a great time on the Continent, and one of their principal objectives was to see the German Grand Prix, this year the Grosser Preis von Europa.

They were impressed by the big crowds. Some day I'm going to write an article on the significance of this tremendous enthusiasm in Germany for mechanical sport, and the probability of England and Ireland waking up too late to the importance of encouraging car and motor cycling events and public interest therein.

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer also noted the splendid width of the roads, and thought that the use of a street robot to start the races was a good idea.

Engine trouble eliminated Charlie Manders at an early stage of the 250 c.c. race, which became a struggle between O. Tenni, on a Guzzi, and Arthur Geiss, on a D.K.W., apparently on the same lines as the Swiss Grand Prix. When they had laced their machines to a standstill, Tyrell Smith took the lead in the thirteenth lap and won a great race.

Other Comments

F. L. FRITH had a soft ride in the 350 c.c. class, and had the field lapped at the end of thirty circuits. Jimmy Guthrie, in the 500 c.c. class, was, I gather, rather pushed by "Crasher" White and Müller, whom I take to be the German rider we saw in last year's Ulster Grand Prix. This last pair scrapped neck and neck, and White lost second place through missing a corner.

We may see innovations in the Ulster race this year as a sequel to this continental tour of the Palmers. Harrie apparently has kept his eyes open in the search for useful points of organisation, and mentions in his note that he was impressed, among other things, with the use of straw instead of sandbags at the corners.

Not only was the race supported by the " people who count," but there were thousands and thousands of motor cycles at the race, fields and fields full of them. Possibly there were more—this a personal comment—than in the whole of Ireland. Yet surely there will be " D.R.'s " in the next war!

DUBLIN TECHNICAL SCHOOLS

An admirable souvenir of the year's work, in the form of a portfolio of printed specimens, has been turned out by the School of Printing and Book Production of the City of Dublin Municipal Technical Schools, Bolton street, to mark the close of the second year in the Day Apprentice School of Printing.

The portfolio, which is beautifully finished in a stiff green cover, contains a varied collection of specimens of the work done by the first-year and second-year students, including visiting and business and invitation cards, display cards, register forms, booklets on the printing art, and splendid examples of fancy printing. The specimens were designed, composed and printed by the day students, and in their variety and quality they give an excellent impression of the standards attained and the very fine results achieved from the practical training methods applied. Judged by these results, the training is certainly tending towards a realisation of the ideal of high-class craftsmanship and workmanship of the best order.

Daily Programme Review

RADIO ATHLONE: " Drama at Inish " (Lennox Robinson), 8.15.

NORTHERN IRELAND: Dudley Hare and his Orchestra, 6.30.

B.B.C. NATIONAL: Café Colette Orchestra, 7.15.

REGIONAL: Play, " The Charcoal-burner's Son," 8.

WEST: Band Programme, 9.15.

MIDLAND: Variety from Leicester, 9.30.

MUNICH: Concert from Bayreuth, 10.20.

BRUSSELS NO. 2: " Lilac Time " (Schubert-Berte), 8.

" DRAMA AT INISH," one of Lennox Robinson's most successful comedies, will be performed to-night at the Abbey Theatre, Dublin, on the occasion of its re-opening. It will be relayed to listeners, and at the conclusion of the first act a social commentary will be given by Joan MacEnri.

Frank Cowle is broadcasting to-night. He is singing four songs typical of his usual quality of choice and standard of performance. They are: Handel's " Hear me, ye winds and waves," " Loveliest of Trees," by Somervell; " The Blue Hills of Antrim," by Hamilton Harty, and Stanford's " Back to Ireland." (Radio Athlone, 7.45.)

L. du Garde Peach has that splendid quality of doing things so well for children they are sought after by the more sophisticated listener. Victor Hely-Hutchinson shares the same—shall it be said—complaint. Each has done splendid work for the B.B.C. " Children's Hour " and " Broadcasts to Schools," giving of their very best on every occasion.

Working in collaboration, the fantastic writing of Mr. Peach and the whimsical music of Mr. Hely-Hutchinson resulted in the delightful fairy story with music, " The Charcoal-burner's Son." It was originally written for the " Children's Hour," when it was hailed with delight by young and old alike. After a time it was given in the main evening programmes, and now it is to be broadcast again. It may be heard in the Regional programmes to-night at 8, and again on Wednesday from National at 10.

Victor Hely-Hutchinson also appears among to-night's items as a pianist, and all Dubliners know him as a very distinguished one. In a recital devoted to Schumann's " Carnaval," he will play in the Midland Regional programme at 7.30. " Carnaval " was written during the period of Schumann's career when he was devoting himself to literary labours, and it was only now and then that he had the leisure or felt in the mood for composing. Two great pianoforte works, however, date from this time, one of them being " Carnaval," which is a set of twenty-one pieces, each with a separate title, clearly revealing the influence of Schumann the author on Schumann the composer.

AGRICULTURAL REVIEW

CONDITIONS ON JULY 1, 1936

CROPS, LIVE-STOCK AND MILK

THE Department of Agriculture's review of agricultural conditions in Saorstat Eireann on 1st July, 1936, states that the early days of June were dry, but harsh and cold. Heavy night frosts during the first week did some damage to potatoes on bog-lands and to the early brairds of the root crop. About the middle of the month the weather became warm and sultry, and thunderstorms were experienced in every part of the country, accompanied by very heavy rains, which were generally welcomed, as most crops were suffering from lack of moisture. From the middle to the end of the month the weather was mainly dry and warm, with occasional heavy rains. Farmers made considerable progress with the sowing of the turnip crop, the after-cultivation of mangels and beet, the spraying of potatoes, and the cutting of hay in early districts. A fair proportion of the turf crop was saved under satisfactory conditions, but where cutting was deferred until late May or early June progress was extremely slow.

Pastures were comparatively bare until the rains came in the middle of the month. After that they grew out well, and at the close of the month were carrying a fair covering of grass, although hardly up to the normal for the time of year.

Live stock were rather thin, but healthy. It was generally reported that the number of store cattle being carried was lower than heretofore, but there appeared to be a definite increase in the number of calves.

No outbreaks of disease were reported from any district.

HAY-MAKING

Weather conditions delayed the harvesting of the hay crop and cutting did not begin until late in the month, with the result that only a comparatively small portion of the work had been done by the end of the month. From the general appearance of the fields, it was anticipated that, except on rich, heavy soils, first and second crop hay would be lighter than last year, as would also old meadows, except in cases where there was no spring grazing or where the lands were treated with manure.

The wheat crop was reported to be variable; many excellent crops were to be seen; others were only medium. Generally speaking, spring varieties and winter varieties sown in the early winter looked well and promising, but winter varieties sown late in the year were thin and patchy. On the whole, it is thought reasonable to assume that, taking into account the increased area under wheat this year and making allowance for the failures or partial failures reported, the total produce from the crop will be rather larger than that from the smaller acreage sown last year.

Oats and barley made satisfactory progress.

Sugar beet and mangels made good progress, and both crops, as well as early sowings of turnips, had been thinned at the close of the month. Late sowings of turnips are now making satisfactory progress, although they gave trouble at first, and in some cases more than one sowing had to be made.

After the rains set in the flax crop recovered very quickly from the effects of the drought, and was making good progress, promising an average return at the close of the month. The area under flax is appreciably larger than that sown last year.

POTATOES

Digging of earlies began in the middle of the month. A record crop was dug at Dungarvan, yielding seven tons per statute acre; but in most of the other districts the crop was lighter than usual. The main crop made satisfactory progress after the rains. Spraying was fairly general during June, and adequate supplies of spraying materials were obtainable in all districts. Fortunately, unlike other years, no serious attacks of blight were reported from any district during the month. The weather prevailing at the moment is favourable to the spread of blight, and consequently all growers who have not yet thoroughly sprayed their crops should do so without delay.

CATTLE, SHEEP AND PIGS

Cattle stocks were maintained in good health and condition. The fairs held during the month were of average size. Demand for good quality animals was active during the month.

Flocks of sheep were maintained in good health and condition. Shearing was completed during the month, and the yield was up to average. Prices varied considerably according to district and quality, ranging from 6d. to 9d. per lb. in some districts, up to 1s. 1d. per lb. in others.

The number of pigs marketed during June showed a slight increase over those for the previous month. The average prices realised for pigs suitable for the bacon-curing industry ranged from 50s. 2d. to 60s. per cwt. dead weight, according to quality, or approximately 37s. 9d. to 45s. per cwt. live weight. Bonhams were in good supply, at prices ranging from 14s. to 26s. each, according to district, age and quality. Breeding stocks were well maintained, with a tendency to increase in some districts.

The demand for horses continued active during the month. First-class hunters realised as high as £220, while troopers were in brisk demand at prices ranging as high as £40 and £50 each. Good working horses realised up to £35 each.

RINGSEND ACCIDENT

THREE MEN IN HOSPITAL

Four men were treated, and three of them were detained, in Sir Patrick Dun's Hospital, Dublin, yesterday morning, following a motor accident at Victoria Bridge, Ringsend. J. Sheehy (25), of 195 South Circular road, Dublin, who received head and chest injuries; William Liggins (30), of Killarney street, who received head injuries also; and C. Morgan (25), of 57 South Richmond street, who received injuries to the head and shoulders, were detained at the hospital. Michael Daly, of 196 South Circular road, was treated for cuts and released from the hospital. At a late hour last night Higgins was still unconscious.

It is stated that the car in which the four men were driving struck a tramway standard. The men were taken to the hospital in the Fire Brigade ambulance.

DARING ARAB ATTACK

SHOTS AT JEW IN JERUSALEM

PRESS CORRESPONDENT A WITNESS

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

JERUSALEM, Sunday.

A PROMINENT Jewish merchant, Mr. Isaac Cohen, was shot and seriously injured by an unknown man in Jerusalem this morning. The incident was witnessed by Reuter's correspondent, who was walking along a street in the main business district of Jerusalem. An Arab, wearing European clothes and a fez, fired at Mr. Cohen and then fled, his smoking revolver in his hand.

Cameron Highlanders and a police patrol immediately gave chase, but the man disappeared in a labyrinth of garages in the vicinity of the Jaffa Gate. The police are continuing to search for the fugitive, who was described to them by Mr. Cohen and Reuter's correspondent.

Mr. Cohen received two bullets in the thigh. His condition is serious, but not dangerous. Aged 64, he is a prominent department store proprietor and a landowner.

A donkey with an Arab walking alongside near Jaffa this morning looked guileless enough, but a combined police and military party suspected both man and beast. Their suspicions proved well founded. The donkey was carrying a considerable quantity of ammunition and a sword. Arab, donkey and arms were seized.

Seizures of arms took place in various other parts of Palestine, including the ammunition and rifle of a Beduin near the Jewish colony of Ekron. The Beduin fired on a patrol, and was wounded when his fire was returned.

A military patrol was passing a house in the same district, when a number of shots whistled past. The house was searched and four arrests resulted.

A Jewish telephone operator at Lydda Station was shot and fatally injured while he was walking with a British soldier today. It is stated that the soldier's revolver was discharged accidentally.

KING'S CUP AIR RACE

WINNER'S AVERAGE SPEED OF 164½ M.P.H.

Mr. C. Gardner, in a Percival Vega Gull, won the King's Cup Air Race at Hatfield on Saturday at an average speed of 164½ miles per hour.

Flight-Lieutenant Tommy Rose, winner last year with an average of 176.28 m.p.h., flying a Miles Hawk, was second, and Flight-Lieutenant J. B. Wilson (B.A. 4 Double Eagle) was third.

The Duke of Kent's entry—a Percival Mew Gull—piloted by its designer, Captain E. W. Percival, which was a firm favourite, was placed fourth. Captain Percival attained a speed of 211 m.p.h. on the last lap.

Mr. Gardner had a time allowance of 25 minutes 35 seconds, Flight-Lieutenant Rose 11 minutes 25 seconds, and Flight-Lieutenant Wilson 12 minutes 30 seconds. Captain Percival started from scratch.

"It was a great race, although the weather could have been better," Mr. Gardner told a reporter.

Fourteen machines took part over a triangular course, lapped twelve times.

In addition to the cup presented by the King, Lord Wakefield gave a first prize of £500, a second of £200 and a third of £100.

BAD FLYING WEATHER

Gusty weather and rain affected the faster machines, and Captain Percival had a heavy handicap to overcome. He was beaten by one of his own machines, and had to fly at a higher altitude than the other competitors to avoid the smaller machines.

Mr. Gardner only began flying in 1931. In last year's King Cup Race he was seventh and gained the Siddeley Trophy.

Flight-Lieutenant Tommy Rose entered for his first King's Cup in 1929. He has thousands of hours flying to his credit, and has broken many records.

Flight-Lieutenant J. B. Wilson graduated from the R.A.F. to become an instructor.

Captain E. W. Percival is an Australian, and is as well known as a commercial pilot as a designer of aeroplanes.

DUBLIN BOY'S DEATH

EVIDENCE AT INQUEST

QUEST FOR UNKNOWN CYCLIST

AFTER evidence that an unknown cyclist had knocked him down and that a petrol lorry had crushed him, a verdict of "accidental death" from shock and haemorrhage following fracture of the skull, was returned at an inquest which was held on the body of Francis Keenan (13), 6 Lower Gloucester street, Dublin.

Dr. D. A. MacErlean, sitting with a jury, held the inquest in Jervis Street Hospital.

The boy was killed at Tara street last Friday evening by being crushed by the wheel of a motor lorry.

The jury exonerated Michael Burke, Arbour terrace, Dublin, from all blame.

Michael Rafferty, ice cream vendor, giving evidence, said that he saw a young boy rush out of the Tara Street Baths. He was struck by the front wheel of a bicycle, but the cyclist did not stop. The driver of the lorry tried to swerve, but was unable to avoid the boy. Witness added that he would know the cyclist if he saw him again.

Michael Burke, driver of the lorry, said that he saw the boy run out from the baths. His lorry was going at from eight to ten miles an hour. He jammed on his brakes. He thought that the boy was trying to avoid a bicycle on the left. He could not have done more to avoid the accident.

Station Sergeant Cotter, who had charge of the case, said that he had done everything possible to trace the cyclist, and inquiries would be continued.

MRS. BALL'S WILL

PROPERTY DIVIDED BETWEEN HER SONS

Mrs. Lavinia B. Ball, late of 23 St. Helen's road, Booterstown, County Dublin, "who died on or about 17th February, 1936," left personal estate in the Irish Free State of £1,130 18s. 7d. Letters of administration, with the will annexed, have been granted to her son, John Charles Preston Ball, of 6 Marine Park, West Kirby, Cheshire, the executors named in the will dated January 25th, 1923, having renounced their rights.

By her will Mrs. Ball bequeathed her jewellery, trinkets and articles of personal adornment upon trust, to be divided equally between her sisters, Gladys Weatherill and Nora Eileen Stewart, the bequest to be free of legacy duty. She directed that the share of the estate of her father, the late Captain John Weatherill, over which she had a power of appointment, and also certain funds subject to the trusts of her marriage settlement, should be held upon trust for her sons, John Charles Preston Ball and Edward Francis Alan Ball, upon their respectively attaining the age of 25 years, as tenants in common in equal shares.

She directed that, if either should die under the age of 25 years, without issue, his share should be held upon trust for the survivor until he attained the age of 25 years. She left the residue of her real and personal estate and effects, after the payment of her funeral and testamentary expenses and duties and the legacies mentioned, to be realised and invested and held upon trust for her sons, John and Edward, on their respectively attaining the age of 25 years, as tenants in common in equal shares.

In the event of either son dying under the age of 25 years, without issue, his share should be held in trust for the survivor on his attaining the age of 25 years. Her trustees might apply the whole or part of the income towards the maintenance, education or benefit of her sons, John and Edward, whom she appointed her residuary legatees, in equal shares as tenants in common.

SLAUGHTER OF CATTLE AND SHEEP BILL

Dr. Ryan, Minister for Agriculture, has given notice of an amendment to the Slaughter of Cattle and Sheep Bill, which is intended to empower him to "pay compensation on a failure to supply cattle in pursuance of an agreement entered into by him."

In the original Act it was provided that the Minister might agree to supply cattle, either free of charge or on specified terms, to a person or company manufacturing for human consumption any marketable product from the carcases of cattle or sheep. The amendment is to be regarded as having effect from the coming into operation of Part VIII. of the 1934 Act.

TRAVELLING EXPENSES

TURF DEVELOPMENT BOARD

ENGINEERING STAFF DISPUTE

THE Turf Development Board has dispensed with the services of seven of its engineers as the result of a dispute over the payment of travelling expenses.

The dispute is explained in a memoranda which has been prepared by Mr. R. O hUadhaigh, Secretary of the Engineers' Association. The statement says:—

"The Board was set up by the Government about two years ago with the object of fostering the production and use of turf. The Board has endeavoured to secure this by providing much-needed facilities in the way of drainage works and roads, carried out as minor relief schemes, to serve the bogs in those districts where the turf-producers were united in co-operative turf societies, and by setting up as middlemen between the producers and consumers of turf.

"A recent development of the Board's activities has been the taking over of a large bog near Portarlington for the purpose of carrying out a very large scale experiment in the production of turf by means of machinery. This is in addition to, but quite unconnected with, the similar very large undertaking formed under Government auspices, just entering the production stage at Lullymore, near Edenderry.

"The Board employs, or did so until recently, a staff of twelve civil engineers. Relations between the Board and its engineers have not been happy for some considerable time past, but the present difficulty arose when the Board rather abruptly intimated by circular to its employés that the rates then in force for travelling were being cut by approximately one-half. As most of the engineers were entitled, under the terms of their appointment, to the Civil Service rates in force, and had committed themselves to the purchase of cars on the written assurance that such rates would be maintained, they declined to accept this 'cut.' After some heat had been engendered by this refusal, the Board, finding the contention of the engineers to be well grounded, withdrew for the time being, the operation of the new rates.

NOTICES OF DISMISSAL

"In an endeavour to impose the new rate on its engineering staff, the Board issued notices of dismissal, coupled with the offer of re-employment on entirely new terms which were to be unconditionally accepted prior to re-engagement. One of the conditions which the Board sought to impose was that its employés whose engagement could be terminated at one month's notice were to be compelled to provide themselves with cars, to be used on the Board's business, at rates that could be fixed or varied at any time by the Board.

"The engineers submitted a memorandum to the Board pointing out the injustice of this provision, and calling attention to several other matters in the new terms offered than they considered to be unsatisfactory.

"The Board replied that before any consideration could be given to the points raised, the engineers would have to accept the terms as satisfactory and apply for re-engagement.

"The engineers replied that to do so would be to place themselves in the entirely false position of signifying acceptance of a set of conditions with which they were dissatisfied, in the hope that consideration might be given to their grievances at some future date. It was suggested also, that the proper time for the settling of the matters in dispute was before re-engagement.

BOARD'S REPLY

"The Board's reply was that it adhered to its insistence on the engineers' prior acceptance of the terms offered before it could agree to consider or discuss modification at a later date.

"At this stage the matter was referred to the Cumann na h-Innealtoiri (Engineers' Association), which sent a deputation to the Board, which met with no success in its efforts to arrive at a settlement of the dispute, the only concession the Board being willing to grant being to give an undertaking, if their engineers agreed to the terms offered and applied for reinstatement, that the Board would meet them before the 15th August to hear their grievances, thus leaving the matter essentially as before.

"In a last-minute effort to secure peace the engineers offered to apply for re-engagement, on the understanding that a committee formed of two representatives of the Board and two of the Cumann na h-Innealtoiri, with a chairman acceptable to both, would meet and fix conditions to be binding on both sides and retrospective to the date of re-employment. This offer was refused by the Board.

"Professor Alfred O'Rahilly, widely known for his successful intervention in many industrial disputes, offered his services as mediator, this offer receiving the approval of the Cumann, but being declined by the Board.

"The deadlock that has ensued has resulted in the Board dispensing with the services of all its engineers affected, with the exception of one.

"It is probable that the Board's activities in the carrying out of turf development schemes will be very seriously curtailed, if not altogether brought to a standstill, until this dispute is settled."

THE POSITION

An Irish Times reporter was informed yesterday that there were twelve engineers on the staff of the Board. Three of them were appointed by the Board, and the remainder were officers transferred from other departments. Of the latter, seven were dismissed; one has expressed his willingness to resign, while the other one has accepted the new conditions. Thus at the moment there are only four engineers employed by the Board. The Association has made representations to the other engineering bodies in the Free State, such as the Local Government engineers and the Graduates' Appointment Bureaux, asking for their support, and suggesting that the positions rendered vacant should not be accepted in the interests of the profession, having regard to the circumstances of the case.

A member of the Association said that the Board would be under a serious disadvantage if some settlement was not reached, as most of the engineers affected were conversant with the conditions in the areas where the development of the industry is taking place.

ATHENRY WATERWORKS

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

GALWAY, Saturday.

At a meeting of Galway Board of Health, Mr. P. Beegan, T.D., presiding, the secretary said that he wrote the Department that the Board resented the statement of the Minister that they showed culpable indifference in regard to Athenry Waterworks, setting out the Board's case, and asking the Minister to withdraw the sealed order dismissing the engineer.

Mr. Powell, B.E., said that he had employed temporarily a caretaker and also an assistant.

Mr. Corbett, T.D., objected to paying an assistant. It was good enough to pay a caretaker without being fleeced in a local racket.

The Board refused to employ an assistant, and decided to advertise for a temporary caretaker for six months.

THEATRE ROYAL

The Garda Metropolitan Ceilidhe Band, making its first public appearance, was the principal contributor to the variety show last night. The new band is of very high quality, and is conducted by Superintendent O'Donnell Sweeney, who plays the piano. Last night it gave twenty minutes of Irish dance music, which, judging by the applause, appeared to be the most popular item on the programme. Miss L. O'Carroll's troupe of Irish dancers gave a good exhibition of dancing to the music of the new band. A. Robinson, the South African radio performer, sang a group of songs, including "The Snowy-Breasted Pearl" and "The Rose of Tralee," which, though not sung in the way that Irish people are used to hearing them sung, sounded very well in his pleasant light tenor voice. The Three Emeralds, unusually good dancers, complete the show.

The accompanying film is an adaptation of Synge's "Riders to the Sea," filmed in Ireland.

Mitteleuropa

Herr Hitler's latest pact with Austria affords a striking example of the way in which history continues to repeat itself. Many years before the World War Italy entered into an alliance with her arch enemy, the Dual Monarchy, not, indeed, because she had any desire to be associated with the Austrians, but simply because she was afraid of them. Just twenty-two years ago the Triple Alliance—Germany-Austro-Hungary-Italy—was put to its first real test. Italy was faced with the choice to remain true to her alliance or to join the side which, in her opinion, would be the more likely to win the war. She chose the latter alternative, leaving her pledged allies in the lurch. Many things have happened since Italy came in on the winning side to be rewarded with the Trentino and a large slab of other Austrian territory. In 1914 she was the weakest of the so-called Central Powers. Now she is among the most heavily-armed States in the world. Since the War she has been striving to keep the Germans out of Austria. Signor Mussolini has been outspoken in his opposition to the proposed Anschluss, whereby Austria would have become an integral part of the German Customs system. He has made it quite clear that any attempt to bring about such a union between the two countries would lead to an immediate war, and, at the time of the Dolfuss murder, he sent strong detachments of Italian troops to the Brenner Pass in order to convince Berlin that he was in earnest. In the meanwhile the little Austrian Republic has become little better than an Italian vassal State. First Dr. Dolfuss, and afterwards Dr. Schuschnigg, have been entirely under Italian influence. During recent years Vienna has not dared to move a finger without the consent of Rome. Much as it must have irked the Austrians to obey the crack of the Italian whip, they had no reasonable alternative; and the people who a generation ago regarded the Italians as a definitely inferior race were forced to stand by in silence while the inheritors of a three thousand-year-old civilisation removed the statue of Walther von der Vogelweide from the centre of his native town.

Austria has been in a most unenviable position since Signor Mussolini and Herr Hitler began to bully Europe. She is the democratic nut in the totalitarian nutcrackers, and it has been obvious for some time that even her nominal independence could not last for very long. Under the new agreement between Vienna and Berlin—arranged, apparently, between Dr. Schuschnigg and the notorious von Papen—Germany is to give unconditional recognition to Austrian independence. All Nazi interference in Austrian affairs will come to an end. No attempt will be made to circulate Dr. Josef Goebbels's propagandist fairy-tales inside the Austrian borders. Germany will remove the tax of one thousand marks hitherto imposed on every German citizen who went to spend a holiday in Austria. There will be free frontier passage between the two countries, the relations between which in future will be as normal as those between France and Belgium. The cynic may ask what Germany will get out of this seemingly one-sided arrangement, and the answer is to be found, not in Vienna, but in Rome. One of the foremost aims of the Nazi movement has been to secure the inclusion, by hook or by crook, of the Austrian Republic in the Third Reich. In a sense, it has a case; for, as Dr. Schuschnigg said in his broadcast statement on Saturday night, Austria is a Germanic State, and its people are proud to be Germans. Herr Hitler is a very clever politician. He realises that if he should try to achieve any of his objects by force of arms he would bring down a hornet's nest about his ears, and Germany inevitably would be defeated. He has decided, therefore, to adopt other methods. Knowing that he will recover the Polish corridor eventually, he has made a ten years' pact with Poland, thereby safeguarding Germany's eastern frontier for that period of time. Now he has made a similar pact with Austria, without the mention on this occasion of a time limit, knowing that when the day comes Austria will drop into Germany's lap like a ripe fruit. Within twenty-four hours of the pact's signature one of Herr Hitler's most highly-trusted Austrian friends was given a seat in the Viennese Cabinet, and at least two other pan-Germans will receive portfolios, thus ensuring that nothing will be done in Vienna that might be distasteful to Berlin.

There can be small doubt that the Germano-Austrian pact has been dictated, to a very great extent, by Signor Mussolini, and that, as a quid pro quo for Herr Hitler's promise to keep his hands off Austria, Italy will support Germany diplomatically in the delicate days that lie ahead. Already Signor Mussolini has refused to send a representative to the meeting of Locarno Powers at Brussels, on the ground that Germany also ought to be invited, and it is not at all impossible that a pact between Berlin and Rome will be concluded in the near future. It is the old story all over again. The Drang nach Osten is beginning to manifest itself acutely again, and the idea of the railway from Hamburg to Baghdad is being represented in modern form by the project of a German air line to the East. For the moment it suits Italy's book to encourage German ambitions; but Signor Mussolini ought to beware of the revival of the Mitteleuropa plan. No German, and certainly no Austrian, has any love for Italy or the Italians. Herr Hitler may consent to work in double harness with his Roman prototype, purely as a matter of sheer expediency; but, if Signor Mussolini thinks that the Germans have forgotten Italy's conduct in 1914, or have forgiven the Italians for their behaviour in the South Tyrol, he is very sadly mistaken. For the moment Signor Mussolini is, or believes himself to be, cock of the walk; but he is taking very serious risks. The Germans will use him, and will flatter his colossal vanity to further their own ends; but when the time comes they merely will swallow Italy whole. Signor Mussolini ought not to forget the painful experience of the young lady of Riga. By virtue of this new pact Germany has assured herself of Austria. Britain will be thrown into France's willing arms, with Russia, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia to look after matters in the East and South-East. In the long run Italy probably will find herself isolated, faced once again, as she was faced so often in the past, with the threat of Teuton armies at the Brenner, without a friend to save her from the Nordic wrath.

The Milk Strike

The milk strike, having caused greater or less inconvenience to Dublin during its happily brief course of four days, has come to an end. A conference was arranged on Saturday night, under the auspices of the Department of Agriculture, between the milk producers and the distributors. It ended in a triumph for common sense. The distributors have promised to pay 8d. a gallon for milk during the rest of this month, 9d. a gallon during August and 9½d. a gallon during September. By September, it is hoped, the new Milk Bill will have come into operation, and both sides will be committed to a definite schedule of prices. For the meantime reason has prevailed, and there is no further fear of a milk strike. We congratulate the producers and distributors on this comparatively easy settlement of their difficulty before a public inconvenience had time to become a public danger. Let us hope that the strike's short duration will prove to have been an omen. Labour originally devised the strike weapon as a last resort, but of late years it has been employed in Dublin on the slightest provocation — often, indeed, before any attempt had been made to settle disputes by conciliation. Such indiscriminate use of it would matter less if it were directed against the real objects of the strikers' grievance; but the whole tendency nowadays is to victimise the public in the hope that public opinion may force a settlement. This conduct is not only immoral, but, we think, unwise. The gross unfairness of it gradually is disgusting the people with the ways of industry. Ordinary citizens no longer care, or seek to know, which side has the right of a quarrel: their sole reaction to the news of a strike is a common dislike of both. The strike which relies for its success on the people's discomfort is undemocratic, and nobody can be surprised if the people are beginning to look on it as a tyranny, and to demand that undemocratic methods shall be used to stop it. Admittedly, the recent strike was unusual inasmuch as the issue did not lie between employers of labour and their employés, but between two separate, though interdependent, sections of the industry. Yet the principle was the same, and might have been carried to unjust lengths. Mr. de Valera's Government has been at pains to provide "safeguards," in the form of minimum wage-rates and working hours, for employés, while he has enriched employers by tariffs and by all manner of preferences. We ask now that he shall protect the ordinary consumer against a sudden stoppage of the necessaries of life. To ban the fair use of the strike weapon would be too great a breach with democratic practice; but, where the chief victim is the public, rather than a party to the dispute, its use certainly ought to be controlled.

Another Victory

As an advertisement for the quality of Irish horses and the skill of Irish riders, the Free State military jumping team has proved its worth many times over. Once again we must congratulate its members; for they will come back from the International Horse Show at Lucerne with fresh laurels. Seldom, indeed, can the team have enjoyed so successful a week as that which has just concluded. Its best achievement, perhaps, was the winning of the Prix des Nations on Saturday; for Ireland had secured the cup both last summer and in 1934, so that now it has been won outright. Apart from this feat, however, its performance during the whole meeting was remarkable. There were thirteen events to be decided, and the Irish team, having entered for ten of them, proceeded to capture one prize after another. Of the ten competitions, Ireland won no less than seven, and has little reason to be ashamed of her record in the remaining three. To win all the important prizes for military jumping is a very fine achievement at a meeting where the pick of European horses and horsemen are competing, and it is only right that Commandant O'Dwyer and his companions should be given all the credit that they have deserved. These international meetings are rather more than sporting events, though even in that capacity they give Irish sportsmen a chance to show their own skill and to keep their country in the limelight. Such events as the Lucerne Horse Show serve to focus attention on Irish horse-breeding, which, in spite of economic troubles and the growing "mechanisation" of the world, still is one of the most valuable industries in the country. While we praise the men, we remember that they could not have won their victories on any but first-class mounts, and much of the value of their achievement is that the world remembers the fact also. Irish riders and horses have done well for their country this year, and let us hope that next month Ballsbridge will add another triumph to their long list.

Three Years to Go

Mr. John D. Rockefeller is one of the few American multi-millionaires whom the outside world does not regard as a rather laughable freak of nature. The other great ones tend to spend their plenty in ways so flamboyant that it is difficult to retain a measure of respect in the face of an irresistible temptation to deride. Mr. Rockefeller, however, living his hermit's life, inspires not only respect beyond the shores of the United States, but also a certain measure of awe. He is a familiar figure through the daring of news photographers who have ventured to penetrate his fastnesses. He has been seen on the golf course—a strange form in cap and goggles, with a face almost incredibly lined; and he has been seen in a bath-chair in similar costume. The face of Mr. Rockefeller is familiar; but virtually nothing at all is known of his private life. His huge estate at Lakewood, in New Jersey, is surrounded by high walls, armed guards and fierce dogs; and the public knows only that Mr. Rockefeller, behind those ramparts, is living on towards an age that never has been reached by any man who spent his early years amid the exhausting stress of American commercial life. Last week Mr. Rockefeller celebrated his ninety-seventh birthday, and at that celebration he stressed once again his conviction that he would survive to celebrate his centenary. He has made numerous bets in golf balls upon his chances; and, although he no longer is able to play his round, he seems to be making as certain as possible that he will not lose. Among his golden rules are a great deal of sleep, frequent visits to the doctor, plenty of milk and sunshine, a constant interest in the outside world and a regular daily programme of activities. Mr. Rockefeller, by his charitable bequests, has done a vast amount of good in the world; and it is sincerely to be hoped that he will remain in the world at least sufficiently long to satisfy his long life's ambition.

KING'S RIVIERA HOLIDAY

REQUEST FOR PRIVACY

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

CANNES, Sunday.

Sir George Clerk, British Ambassador in Paris, visited M. Pierre, the new Mayor of Cannes, to-day, to discuss the King's forthcoming visit to the Riviera.

The Ambassador stated that the King, who was travelling incognito, did not want any official reception to be held after his arrival by special train from Vimy, where he is to attend the inauguration of the Canadian War Memorial.

The Mayor assured the Ambassador that the King's desire for privacy would be respected. The Mayor added that all classes in Cannes were most attached to the King.

The King will spend his summer holiday at the Chateau De L'Horizon, which is owned by Miss Maxine Elliot, the American dramatic artiste. The Chateau is situated between Cannes and the Gulf of Juan. It is on the sea, and has a beautiful view towards Cannes, Nice, Antibes and the Lerin Islands.

LEOPARDSTOWN RACES

Very heavy rain during the morning was not an encouraging omen for racing at Leopardstown last Saturday. However, just about the hour fixed for the first race, there was a break in the clouds, and a watery sun shone out to brighten the afternoon's prospects. Many people arrived late, and it was almost four o'clock before anything like a gathering was seen in the enclosures. During the intervals of racing selections of music were played on the lawn of the Members' Enclosure by the No. 2 Army Band, who looked smart in their royal blue and gold uniforms. Everyone came prepared for bad weather with mackintoshes and umbrellas, or else tweed suits were worn with plain felt hats. It was disappointing that the weather did not clear earlier in the day; for there was a well-filled card to attract visitors.

In the Members' Enclosure were noticed:—Sir James and Lady Nelson, Sir Walter Nugent, General Hammond, Mr. W. T. Cosgrave, Major J. D. Barry, Mrs. Orr Denby, Captain and Mrs. G. F. Dunne, Colonel Bramston-Newman, Mr. W. E. Wylie, Miss Wylie, Colonel S. S. Hill-Dillon, Mr. I. J. Blake, Mr. Maxwell Arnott, Captain J. Vernon, Misses Laidlaw, Mr. W. Barnett, Mr. and Mrs. R. ## GOVERNMENT FORCES' CLASH WITH REBELS

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

NANKING, Sunday.

Fighting has broken out near Swatow between forces belonging to the Central Government and troops commanded by General Chen Wei-chow, according to Chinese reports received late to-night.

General Chen Chi-tang, the Canton Commander-in-Chief, and brother of General Chen Wei-how, is rushing a division to the help of his brother.

LONDON LETTER

GERMANY'S PACT WITH AUSTRIA

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
SUNDAY NIGHT.

GERMANY has guaranteed the independence of Austria, a matter of great importance to the rest of Europe. The news did not come as a surprise in London, as it was known that there was a possibility of some such pact on the part of Germany to counteract the pacts between France and Czechoslovakia and Russia and Czechoslovakia, which she believes are aimed at her. The announcement is, perhaps, an answer to the Franco-British questionnaire to Herr Hitler, and it may be that Mr. Eden's statement a few days ago, that he was disinclined to press Germany further, was founded on the knowledge that Herr Hitler had decided to answer the questionnaire by acts instead of words. The first act was in connection with Danzig, and Herr Greiser's defiance of the Council of the League, and now comes the definite intimation of Austria's independence. When the Locarno Powers meet in Brussels this week Germany will not be present, and may declare that she has nothing to answer in the questionnaire, since its premises have been dismissed by accomplished facts. In London it is feared that this new moral Anschluss of Germany and Austria may be the prelude to a new and closer union between the two countries, organised within Austria, but inspired from Germany.

Naval Strengths

Confirmation is lacking of the rumour that Germany intends to demand an increase in naval strength under the terms of the agreement reached with Great Britain last year. It was laid down then that Germany should adhere to the thirty-five to a hundred ratio with Great Britain in all circumstances, subject to the provision that if the general equilibrium of naval armaments should be violently upset by any exceptional construction by the other Powers, the German Government could invite the British Government to examine the new situation. A German demand may be based upon the changed conditions in the Mediterranean, and on the Russian naval programme, but no definite application for an increase has yet been made.

Empire Migration

The resumption of migration within the next few months foreshadowed by the Marquess of Hartington is the outcome of work by the Empire Settlement Board set up last December by the Government to examine numerous schemes. It will be the aim of migration schemes in the future to see that only suitable people are encouraged to settle in the Dominions, and the mistake of encouraging large numbers to emigrate without inquiry into their suitability for their new life is not likely to be repeated. Recently more people have migrated from other parts of the Empire to Great Britain than have gone to the Dominions, and it is to the interest of all that the movement should be reversed.

The Royal Household

On July 21st many changes will be made in the Royal Household, and the King will surround himself with men near his own age. The Earl of Granard, who has been Master of the Horse for so many years, and whose association with the Court has lasted since he was appointed a Lord-in-Waiting to King Edward VII. thirty years ago, will retire, and will be succeeded by the Duke of Beaufort, who is a cousin by marriage of the King. The Earl of Shaftesbury, Lord Steward for fourteen years, is also to retire, and will be replaced by the Duke of Sutherland, who has occupied several Ministerial posts, and is a great personal friend of the King. Lord Wigram, the Private Secretary to the late King, will probably be replaced by Major Hardinge, while Sir Derek Keppel, Master of the Household, will be followed by Sir Hill Child. There will be quite a number of other changes both in the King's household and in that of Queen Mary.

Italian Debts

To-morrow an announcement will be made setting up a clearing exchange for Italian debts to Great Britain, with a view to replacing the arrangement in force during the operation of sanctions. This exchange will be set up under the Clearing Office Act, passed in 1934, to deal with exchange restrictions operated by foreign countries against British goods. The purpose of the Act is to balance trade between Great Britain and the countries which have adopted foreign exchange control. The exchange will have headquarters in London, and a complementary organisation—the precise form of which has not yet been settled—will be opened in Rome. Payments for goods purchased in Italy will be made to the Bank of England, and will be transferred to the clearing exchange to form a fund out of which Italy's debts to Great Britain will gradually be paid. The total of trade debts at present owed by Italians to Great Britain is £3,000,000.

The Mail Contracts

One of the great shipping lines is endeavouring to secure power to promote air services with a view to promoting its mail contracts in the future, and in this venture it is joining with other shipping companies who fear that the struggle with the air companies over the carrying of mails will soon develop seriously. For some time past aviation interests have been agitating against the continued carrying of mails by vessels, on the ground that it is out of date and uneconomical. All the principal shipping lines earn a substantial income from the carriage of mails, and, therefore, they mean to be prepared for any change of policy by the Post Office.

B.B.C. Programmes

The British Broadcasting Corporation has just given notice of a number of changes and innovations it proposes to make in the autumn, but these apparently do not meet all demands, and it is now intended to invite listeners to write and put forward their own ideas on programme construction. Mr. Cecil Graves, the programme controller, says that it is difficult to put a finger on the public pulse except by correspondence, which is now not as heavy as it used to be, or by statistics supplied by relay systems. A series of conferences of listeners also may be arranged.

Motor Sales

The growing popularity of small cars is demonstrated by the latest statistics. Whereas in 1930 cars of under 14 horse-power constituted 59 per cent. of all new sales, the proportion last year was 75 per cent. The County of London has the largest total number of cars, but the average in proportion to the population was comparatively low, the 121,433 private cars being 27.6 for every thousand persons. With regard to private cars in proportion to population, Surrey is easily at the top of the list with an average of 75 cars per thousand persons. The North of England heads the list for motor cycles, the number sold last year in Yorkshire and Lancashire being 45,795 and 34,761 respectively, which compares with 32,228 for London.

Nearly all important functions in London at the end of last week were handicapped by the exceptionally wet weather. None suffered more than the Eton and Harrow cricket match, which had to be abandoned. The Princess Royal arrived early with her son, Viscount Lascelles, but was very soon driven to take shelter.

TRIPLE ALLIANCE AGAIN

Way Paved By Austro-German Agreement

ROME CLAIMS LARGE PART IN THE NEGOTIATIONS

SIMULTANEOUS radio announcements in Berlin and Vienna on Saturday night told of a pact to end the long-standing feud between Germany and Austria.

Hitler agrees to recognise the full sovereignty of Austria. Nazi interference in Austrian internal affairs will cease. Austria and Germany will come to an agreement to enable free passage across the frontier, and the £50 tourist tax on Germans going to Austria will be abolished. "Economic arrangements" also are foreshadowed.

It is the view in Rome that this pact may be the forerunner of an Italo-German agreement shortly to be announced. That impression has been heightened by Italy's refusal to attend the Locarno Powers' talks in Brussels unless the Mediterranean guarantees are cancelled, and unless Germany a'so is invited.

The indications are that no more will be heard of the Stresa front—of France, Britain and Italy—against Germany. Instead, it is suggested that Italy will back Germany's foreign policy where it does not conflict with Italian policy. Hungary, through the Rome protocols, will be party to the new diplomatic bloc.

The opinion is heard in Rome that the pre-war triple alliance—Germany, Austria, Hungary and Italy—has been revived.

STRESA FRONT GOES: SIX-POWER PACT MAY REPLACE IT

An interpretation of the agreement reached between Austria and Germany was received by Baron Frankenstein, the Austrian Ambassador in London, during the week-end.

He stated yesterday that, as the words used by Dr. Schuschnigg, the Austrian Chancellor, "Austria recognises herself to be a Germanic State," appear to have caused some misgivings, it may be recalled that Dr. Schuschnigg, like his predecessor, the late Dr. Dollfuss, has always emphasised the fact that Austria, by virtue of her language, culture and tradition, is an essentially Germanic country.

In Austrian official circles the main features of the agreement are considered to be the recognition by Germany of the independence of Austria, and of the principal of non-interference in the internal affairs of that country, and the acceptance of the Rome Protocols as the basis of Austrian policy.

Considerable importance also is attached to the decision to take measures to bring about a settlement of various outstanding questions between the two countries, such as the control of the Press, radio, cinema and theatre; the future activities of the Austrian colony in Germany, and the German colony in Austria; the future of the Austrian National Socialist émigrés in Germany; the removal of political control over trade between the two countries, and the gradual return to normal tourist traffic conditions.

The Austrian Government is determined not to relax its vigilance to prevent the undermining of the State by any political party, and will, therefore, if necessary, continue to take strong measures against National Socialist propaganda.

Within the next few weeks a law for the protection of the State is to be introduced, making every attempt to endanger the continued existence of an independent Austria illegal; forbidding propaganda in favour of a Anschluss, and so on. The Austrian Government, moreover, do not intend to allow the internal development of Austria to be modified by National Socialist ideology, for instance, in regard to the racial question, etc.

"TWO GERMAN NATIONS"

The texts of telegrams exchanged by Herr Hitler and Dr. Schuschnigg were published yesterday.

The Austrian Chancellor said:—"The conclusion of the agreement, the goal of which is to restore the friendly neighbourly relations between the two German nations, offers me the welcome opportunity of greeting Your Excellency as the leader and Chancellor of the German Reich, and simultaneously of giving expression to the conviction that the outcome of the agreement will benefit Austria and the German Reich, and thus will bless the entire German people."

Herr Hitler replied: "I return sincerely the greetings which Your Excellency conveyed to me following to-day's conclusion of the German-Austrian agreement. I combine therewith the wish that this agreement may restore the traditional relations which have grown from racial unity and a centuries-old history in order to pave the way for further joint activity for the benefit of the two German nations and for the strengthening of peace in Europe."

TRIUMPH FOR MUSSOLINI

DUCE MAKES HIS PART CLEAR

"A triumph for Mussolini's diplomacy" is the view generally taken here, says Reuter's Rome Correspondent.

Soon after the agreement was revealed telegrams were exchanged by Dr. Schuschnigg and Signor Mussolini. The Austrian Chancellor, in his message, said: "I recall with joy the repeated conversations which I had with Your Excellency."

Mussolini's reply includes the following passage: "And it is in this spirit—as you will remember—that the question was discussed at the meeting at Rocca delle Camminate" (where the two had a talk last month).

The insistence on the importance of this meeting tends to give the impression that the final touches to the agreement were decided on there.

The principal obstacle to an agreement was Austrian independence. It was rumoured that Dr. Schuschnigg hurried to Italy last month to receive reassurances that Austrian independence would not be sacrificed in the course of Italo-German negotiations.

Dr. Gayda, in the Voce d'Italia, says: "By this accord the friendship between Italy and Germany is purified and amplified. . . . The accord does not come into force as a reprisal for sanctions, but being as a reprisal for sanctions, but being as a reprisal for sanctions, but derives from obvious interests and definite decisions."

WITH MIXED FEELINGS

HOW VIENNA REGARDS THE PACT

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

VIENNA, Sunday.

The news of the Austro-German reconciliation came as a complete surprise to the Austrian people, from whom the situation in recent weeks had been concealed. It is received in some quarters with mixed feelings.

Two groups of the Austrian population are joyous—the peasants, who hope in future to be able to sell their cattle, dairy products and wood to Germany; and the inhabitants of the western provinces, who depend on tourist traffic and now expect a boom by German tourists.

Announcing the agreement in a broadcast speech last night Dr. Schuschnigg expressed the hope that his words would also be heard in Germany.

"We Austrians are Germans," he said. "Austria recognises herself to be a Germanic State."

Germany and Austria, the two German States in the middle of the German people, would collaborate for the peaceful development of Europe. Relations between Austria and Germany would continue to improve on the basis of full equality of rights.

PRO-GERMANS PROMOTED

Shortly afterwards the first tangible result of the agreement on Austrian internal politics was announced in the appointment of an outspoken pro-German to the Cabinet. He is Herr Edmund Horstenau, who will be a Minister without portfolio. In some quarters his position is described as confidential representative of the German Government in the Austrian Cabinet.

Political circles in Vienna forecast that his presence in the Cabinet will soon make itself felt.

Another new appointment is Herr G. I. O. Schmidt to the post of State Secretary for Foreign Affairs. It is forecast that a further national pro-German Minister will be nominated in the near future.

BERLIN VIEWS

In diplomatic circles in Berlin particular attention is given to the possibility that, following the agreement, Italy and Germany may take up a common attitude to the forthcoming Locarno talks in Brussels.

The extent to which Germany's relations with Italy are bound up with the pact are noted in the comment of the official Nazi organ, the Volkischer Beobachter.

Referring to a statement in the communiqué that the agreement does not contravene the Rome protocols of 1934, the paper says: "The good relations existing between the Reich and Italy, and also Hungary, exclude any such possibility."

Berliner Tageblatt says: "The understanding is an unconditional and transparent clarification. This clarification of an extremely complicated problem, which our enemies like to regard as beyond solution, will call forth the astonishment of Europe. But we dealt with Poland in an equally clear way, and also with the British in the matter of our navies. When we conclude treaties then they are really worth while."

NEW CENTRAL EUROPEAN BLOC

FRENCH PRESS APPREHENSIVE

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

PARIS, Sunday.

"A corollary of the Austro-German agreement is probably a common Italo-German front on the eve of the Brussels Conference." This statement, made by "Pertinax" in the Echo de Paris, echoes the theme running through the French Press this morning.

"Does it mean a new central European bloc?" is the question asked by most commentators. Typical judgments are:—

The Socialist Populaire, organ of Leon Blum: "The agreement may mean a bloc between Germany, Austria, Hungary and Italy. A link has been forged between Rome and Berlin, and may be the first of a chain with which the two dictatorships will try and hold a hesitant and vacillating Europe. The Austro-German agreement is only an episode in the general offensive against the League of Nations and collective security—an offensive in which Italy intends to collaborate to the full."

The Temps: "The Little Entente can not fail to be particularly attentive to the fact that the circuit, Berlin-Warsaw-Budapest-Vienna-Rome, is now practically established, and there is in this new factor a profoundly modifying problem for the Danubian organisation.

Mme. Tabouis, in the Œuvre: "No one should cherish illusions. Henceforth Austria is an integral part of Germany."

Petit Parisien's Rome Correspondent says that it is thought that Mussolini intends to propose a new European pact, "which would not be a four-Power, but a six-Power, pact, including Poland and the Soviets."

BALKAN STATE DISTURBED

RUMANIA MAY LOOK TO RUSSIA

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

BUKHAREST, Sunday.

Arriving back to-day from the Dardanelles Conference, M. Titulescu, Rumania's Foreign Minister, drove immediately to the Royal Palace and was received in audience by King Carol. The interview went on continuously for four hours, and both King and Minister missed their dinner.

This talk is only one sign of the disturbing effect of the agreement between Germany and Austria. Political circles generally express their concern. It is feared that the Austro-German agreement is only the beginning of the formation of a greater bloc of nations opposed to the Little and Balkan Ententes.

Pessimistic observers foresee a wall across Europe, extending from Poland to Italy, completely separating the Little Entente from their greatest ally, France.

Some circles believe that, although there has long been a pronounced distrust of Soviet Russia because of the amount of Communist propaganda in past years, Rumania may yet enter into a military alliance with that country.

Thus far one of the basic principles of the Little Entente has been regional assistance, which appears to have received a severe blow at Montreux.

Rumania has placed an order for £150,000 worth of war material with a Czechoslovakian firm, it is learned from a reliable source. It is expected that another order will be placed later.

Meanwhile France continues to supply Rumania with aeroplanes and aviation equipment, as well as with other munitions of war.

HUNGARY APPLAUDS

BUDAPEST, Sunday.

The semi-official Pester Lloyd welcomes the German-Austrian pact. The agreement, it says, will improve considerably relations between Germany and Italy.

ENGLISH PRESS VIEWS

DEFEAT FOR FRENCH POLICY

Daily Sketch: Herr Hitler has more common-sense in his foreign policy than most people here give him credit for, or else he allows himself to be advised by someone who is wiser than himself. The new agreement seems to be a defeat for the French policy of turning all the States in Eastern Europe into policemen to keep Germany in order.

Daily Express: We ought to lift up our hearts and sing a song of rejoicing. For why? Because it is a movement in the direction of the pacification of Europe, and that is a great thing for all of us. Further, the agreement relieves Britain of a good many of her obligations in Europe. If we can really get rid now and for ever of these old obligations, and if only we can keep our Government from entering into new ones, we ought to be a happy people.

Daily Mail: The latest developments provide an admirable opportunity for Britain to reach a closer understanding with Germany.

News-Chronicle: Europe may accept this gift-horse, but look it squarely in the mouth. One of these days it may bite. Nor is the prospect of a dictatorship bloc clean across Europe a reassuring one to contemplate.

Nottingham Journal: Another step has been taken in the direction of lining up the States of Europe for war rather than for peace. Signor Mussolini has given it his approval, a circumstance that suggests a weakening of the ties that have so recently bound French and Italian interests and the possibility of Italy taking up a position of independence, ready to come down in the future on whichever side seems best in her own interests.

HOUSES SEARCHED

POLICE ACTIVITY IN MALLOW AND SLIGO

Throughout Saturday evening detectives and uniformed police were busy in the district of Mallow, Co. Cork, searching the houses of prominent Republicans. At each house the members in charge of the search party had a warrant issued by virtue of the Constitution Amendment Act, 1931, to search for firearms and documents. It is learned that nothing found in any house was deemed worth taking. No information could be got from police quarters as to the reason for the sudden swoop.

A number of private houses in Sligo were searched by Guards on Saturday afternoon, but no arrest was made.

FARMERS GET MORE FOR MILK

DUBLIN DISPUTE ENDED

NO INCREASE IN PRICE TO CONSUMERS

FARMERS will get more for the milk they produce, but for the present, at any rate, the price to consumers will not be increased.

This is the effect of the Dublin milk strike settlement, reached after a lengthy conference in the offices of the Department of Agriculture on Saturday night.

The new prices to be paid to the producers are:—July 11th-31st, 8d. per gallon; August, 9d. per gallon; September, 9½d. per gallon for milk delivered in Dublin. When distributors collect the milk from the producers they are entitled to deduct not more than one penny per gallon for transport.

After the conference, at which a senior inspector of the Department of Agriculture (Mr. Maurice Foley) acted as chairman, the following official statement was issued:

"At a conference held in the Department of Agriculture to-night between representatives of the Milk Producers' Association and the Milk Distributors' Association an agreement on prices and other matters was reached. The milk dispute is, therefore, terminated, and the Producers' Association are issuing permits for the collection of milk."

Another senior inspector of the Department (Mr. Maurice Ward) was also present at the meeting.

Inquiries made at the Lucan Dairy and Messrs. Hughes Bros. yesterday revealed that there will be no increase in the retail price of milk at the present time.

OTHER MATTERS

Details of other matters on which agreement was reached at the conference include:—

The associated distributors shall purchase milk only from the associated producers provided that—

(a) For ten days from the date of the agreement the associated distributors may continue to obtain milk from other producers from whom they have been purchasing regularly prior to the date of this agreement; and

(b) If at any time the associated producers are unable to supply any associated distributor's full requirements, such associated distributor may purchase the deficiency from other sources until such time as the associated producers can supply his full requirements.

Where, because of this agreement or for any other reason, any associated producer is unable to sell his milk to any person to whom he was selling regularly prior to July 1st, 1936, one or other of the associated distributors shall treat such associated producer in exactly the same way as if he had been a regular supplier of such associated distributor prior to the date of this agreement.

The associated producers shall not sell any milk to any person whatsoever at less than the appropriate price specified, and, furthermore, shall not sell milk to any retail shop at less than the prices fixed for shopkeepers by the associated distributors.

There shall be no victimisation by either party to this agreement of any person for anything done or omitted to be done by such person during the recent dispute.

A BIG STEP FORWARD

Interviewed after the conference Mr. C. M. Byrne (chairman of the Associated Producers) said this was the first occasion on which the milk producers had got an agreement signed under Government auspices. They regarded this as a big step forward and a guarantee that the agreement would be kept.

The period of the agreement was for three months, and it was hoped that the Milk Bill would come into operation after that date. He added that the Minister for Agriculture had appealed to both parties to effect a settlement in view of the fact that the Milk Bill would be introduced into the Dail this week.

Mr. Byrne remarked that the producers did not accept the prices as adequate, but they had an assurance that they would not prejudice the price that they might expect when the Milk Bill became effective. The winter prices would obviously be much higher.

Mr. P. J. Crowley, secretary, Dublin Milk Vendors' Association, when asked his Association's attitude towards the milk price agreement, replied: "I would rather not say anything about it at the moment."

IRISH JUMPERS AT LUCERNE

NATIONS' CUP WON OUTRIGHT

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE "IRISH TIMES."

LUCERNE, Sunday.

The Irish Free State riding team, who won two prizes on Thursday, gained two more successes when the International Horse Show was continued here yesterday.

In addition to winning the Prix des Nations, an international team event, the Free State won the Meggerhorn prize, a handicap jumping competition, through Captain Corry, on Clontarf. Captain Lewis, on Kilmallock, finished thirteenth.

The Irish Free State riders in the Prix des Nations were:—Commandant O'Dwyer (Blarney Castle), Lieutenant Neylon (Limerick Lace), Captain Corry (Red Hugh) and Captain Lewis (Glendalough).

France finished second, U.S.A. third, and Switzerland fourth.

The Irish Free State riders took second, fifth and thirteenth places in the final event of the International Horse Show—for the State of Lucerne Cup, which was concluded here to-day. Comdt. O'Dwyer, riding Limerick Lace, finished second in 1 min. 34 secs., three minutes more than the time of the winner, Captain Durand, of France, mounted on Olivette.

Lieutenant Neylon finished fifth on Miss Ireland, and Captain J. J. Lewis thirteenth on Owen Roe.

About 4,000 spectators watched the riders perform.

A telegram from Commandant O'Dwyer, who is in charge of the Irish team, states that the Nations' Cup has been won outright by the Irish team.

He stated that there was very heavy rain falling during the event.

The Nations' Cup was won last year and the year before by Ireland, and the winning of it this year means that the Irish team wins it outright.

INVITATION TO KAYE DON

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

NEW YORK, Sunday.

Kaye Don, who made an unsuccessful attempt to win the Harmsworth motor boat trophy in Miss England II., is to be invited to drive one of the entries in the 90 miles Gold Cup Race—America's motor boat classic—which will be decided on Lake George, New York, on July 25th. The American Power Boat Association has granted the Detroit Yacht Club permission to put the British driver at the wheel of one of the two high speed-boats, Impshi and Delpnine VIII., owned by Mr. Horace Dodge.

TRADE TALKS IN DUBLIN

COMMONWEALTH VISITORS

CONFERENCE AT LEINSTER HOUSE

POSSIBILITY OF A TREATY

REPRESENTATIONS made by the Free State Government with the object of securing an adjustment of the balance of trade between this country and Australia will be brought before the Government of the Commonwealth within the new few weeks.

This is a sequel to a conference held on Saturday last between representatives of the Australian and Free State Governments at Leinster House.

The Australian Government was represented by the Right Hon. Earle C. E. Page, Deputy Prime Minister and Minister for Commerce, who, with the other members of the Australian trade delegation, crossed on Saturday morning from London, where they had been engaged for some days past in connection with Great Britain's Empire meat plan.

President de Valera (Minister for External Affairs) and Mr. T. Derrig (Minister for Education), acting on behalf of Mr. Sean Lemass, discussed the possibilities of a trade agreement on behalf of the Free State.

Dr. J. Ryan (Minister for Agriculture) was unable to be present.

UNFAVOURABLE BASIS

At the conclusion of the conference the visitors were entertained to lunch by Mr. de Valera at Leinster House.

Australia is one of the "principal other countries" with which trade with the Free State is conducted on an unfavourable basis. During the first five months of the present year Australian imports into this country amounted to £725,794, while exports from the Free State represented a value of only £4,662.

Dr. Page, in conversation with an Irish Times reporter, stated that the Irish Free State had been in communication with the Australian Government on a number of occasions in relation to trade matters, and had previously suggested the desirability of some kind of a trade treaty between the two countries. Negotiations that led up to the visit had been initiated by Mr. Dulanty, the High Commissioner for the Free State in London, and the delegation were combining business with pleasure while in Ireland.

OBJECT OF THE VISIT

Up to now, Dr. Page said, there had been no personal discussions between Ministers of the Free State and Australia, and the main object of the visit, from the business viewpoint, was to ascertain exactly what the Free State required.

Dr. Page added: "We had a valuable discussion, and we received certain requests which we promised to discuss with our Government when we return. Mr. Derrig explained the position to us, and we are now familiar with your Government's desires, and with the goods you wish to sell us.

Asked if he would disclose the nature of the requests, Dr. Page declined, observing that the conference was arranged by the Free State authorities. He admitted, however, that the discussion covered a wide range of goods, and formed a good basis for a trade treaty. The difficulty in arranging a more extensive trade with the Commonwealth was that both countries were producers mainly of primary products.

MOST FAVOURABLE TERMS

Australia, he added, recognised the adverse balance of trade with the Free State, and had, accordingly, given this country more favourable tariff terms than any other Dominion enjoyed.

The main Australian exports to this country are wheat and wool.

Speaking of conditions in Australia, Dr. Page said the Commonwealth had made a remarkable recovery from the economic depression, and where 30 per cent. of the people were unemployed four years ago, only 8 per cent. were workless to-day. The improvement might be largely attributed to the recovery of the wool market, and to the advantages secured at the Ottawa Conferences. Wages had fallen, but prices had also declined, and the standard of living was consequently higher.

The members of the delegation expressed their keen satisfaction at the trade position arising out of the Empire Meat Conference, especially in regard to the long-term character of the agreement.

SHANNON TO BE VISITED

Dr. Page, who was accompanied by Mrs. Page, Mr. J. E. Murphy, Secretary to the Australian Department of Commerce, and Mrs. Murphy, Mr. F. J. Marcussen, Tariff Adviser to the Commonwealth Delegation, and Mr. M. H. Ellis, Commercial Intelligence Officer of the Australian Department of Commerce, later left Dublin for Killarney.

Dr. Page's ancestors were Kerry born. The Deputy Premier also intends to visit the Shannon Scheme, being keenly interested in hydro-electrical development.

The party will return to England via Belfast.

SPANISH FASCIST RAID

GUNMEN IN RADIO STATION

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

VALENCIA, Sunday.

Police and civil guards are searching for half-a-dozen Fascist gunmen, who last night forced their way into the Valencia Broadcasting Station, overcame the announcer, and told listeners that "Falange Espanola," the Spanish Fascist organisation, had taken over the station by military force.

"To-morrow," they said, "all the other broadcasting stations and communications in Spain will be under the control of Fascists." The speaker then cried: "Long live Fascism," and beat a hasty retreat.

So infuriated were listeners of the Left that they surged from their houses and set fire to the headquarters of the Fascist and Conservative organisations in Valencia.

Many more arrests of Fascists have taken place in Madrid. In a house near the British Embassy large quantities of arms and many incriminating documents have been seized, and several Fascists, described by the Socialist papers as "important men in the movement," taken to prison.

It is expected that the strikers in the building trade in Madrid, who number some hundred thousand, will return to work to-morrow.

TWO DROWNED AT PORTRUSH

EXCITING SCENE ON THE BEACH

DERRY AND BELFAST MEN THE VICTIMS

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

COLERAINE, Sunday.

AT Portrush this evening Mr. William J. Peoples, aged about 50 years, of Atlantic avenue, Belfast, and Mr. David Logue, aged about 21 years, of Albert place, Londonderry, lost their lives in the sea.

Logue was bathing when he got into difficulties in the heavy surf at the West Strand and shouted for help. Peoples, who also was bathing in the vicinity, went to his assistance, but he, too, got into difficulties.

Another visitor, Mr. Victor Burns, of Belfast, rushed into the water and caught hold of Logue, but becoming exhausted he was forced to let him go. With the aid of a rope Dr. S. Hayes and Mr. F. Keery, both of Lisburn, succeeded in bringing Logue ashore, but he was then apparently dead.

BODIES BROUGHT ASHORE

Meanwhile Peoples had drifted about one hundred yards further along the beach, and eventually with the aid of a rope Messrs. S. Graham, Derry, and Maurice Semple, a fifteen-year-old Limavady boy, entered the water and recovered the body.

Artificial respiration was tried for a considerable time by members of the Royal Ulster Constabulary and several doctors.

Mr. Peoples was an assistant superintendent in Belfast General Post Office, and Mr. Logue a supervisor for his father, a Londonderry building contractor.

MAN TARRED AND CHAINED

DAYLIGHT OUTRAGE IN BELFAST

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

BELFAST, Sunday.

A tarring and chaining outrage attracted much attention in Belfast to-night. A man named Gerald Smyth (27), of Eliza street, was taking tea in his own home when a man knocked at the door and told him he was wanted outside.

He accompanied the caller to Russell street, where, it is alleged, he was seized by four men, who bound him to some railings and poured a tin of tar over him.

His cries attracted the attention of many people going to evening Service at St. Malachy's Church, and eventually a police tender drove up. Crowbars were obtained, and the chains were broken, after which Smyth was taken to the Royal Victoria Hospital for treatment.

The police are investigating the affair, but up to the present no arrests have been made.

FROM "THE TIMES"

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT.)

A WELCOME AGREEMENT

The Times observes in a leading article to-day:—Herr Hitler has brought off another stroke of policy, upon which, whatever its immediate motive or its ultimate intention, he is certainly to be congratulated. The agreement with him, which has been freely made by the Austrian Government, cannot but help to stabilise and pacify Central Europe, improve its economic conditions, and pave the way for a permanent settlement between the two main branches of the German race. The arrangement—it is not a treaty—has been made, in the words of Dr. Goebbels, to serve the manifold mutual interests of the two German nations, and the Austrian Chancellor says that fate binds both German peoples together, and Austria recognises herself to be a Germanic State.

An interesting and important point is that Austro-German agreement has clearly been concluded, with the encouragement and support of Signor Mussolini, who gains at once closer association with Germany, and a fresh acknowledgment of Austrian sovereignty. Austria, therefore, which has so long been an obstacle to better relations between Italy and Germany, has become a bridge between them.

The closer relations recently established is further emphasised by the answer which Italy has just given to M. Van Zeeland's invitation to her to attend the proposed meeting of the Locarno Powers in Brussels. The Italian Government make it clear that they will not be represented there unless Germany is also invited, and invited from the very outset. On this point, at least, their attitude has the merit of common sense, and it might well have been adopted with less hesitation in other quarters. When Mr. Eden, M. Delbos, and M. Van Zeeland decided at Geneva to call a Locarno meeting some time this month, it was informally announced that a new Locarno, including Germany, was to be an important element in a European settlement, which the close approximation of British views with those of the new French Government seemed to render possible. If that is, as it must be, the purpose of any such meeting, and if it is agreed, as it is in this country, that better relations with and between France and Germany lie at the root of stabilisation in Europe, then Germany must clearly be represented in the discussions throughout. There are too many unhappy precedents for the missing of similar opportunities.

SECOND BROTHER DEAD

THE COUNTY WICKLOW MOTORING ACCIDENT

Michael Rice (12), son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen H. Rice, 193 Pearse street, Dublin, has died from injuries received in the Ballinacarrig motoring accident last Thursday night. His brother, Donald (10), was also fatally injured on the occasion.

The funeral of Donald took place from St. Patrick's Church, Wicklow, last Saturday morning.

The accident occurred when a bicycle, ridden by Michael, who was carrying Donald on the machine, came into collision with a motor car.

"THE TWELFTH" IN BELFAST

PRESERVATION OF PEACE

ELABORATE POLICE PRECAUTIONS

ARMOURED CARS AND MACHINE GUNS

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

BELFAST, Sunday.

ELABORATE precautions have been taken in Belfast to prevent repetition of the disorders which took place on July 12 last year following the Orange demonstration, when disturbances arose at several points as the Orangemen were returning from the "field." These disturbances were continued for some days, involving loss of life and destruction of property.

This year's Boyne demonstration, which marks the 246th anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne, will take place to-morrow. Hundreds of police will be on duty along the route from Carlisle Circus to Finaghy to prevent any interference with the demonstration. Armoured cars, with machine guns, will be stationed at points along the route, and the Welch Regiment, in Victoria Barracks, Belfast, and also the military at the Palace Barracks, Holywood, will be confined to barracks, and be available for assisting the police if required.

To-night the Special Constabulary was on duty on the streets in the York street area and other mixed districts. They were stationed at various points assisting the Constabulary to guard licensed premises and prevent disturbances.

EXTRA POLICE

In view of the numerous appeals which have been made by the heads of the different Churches for the preservation of peace, together with the elaborate arrangements made by the police authorities, it is not anticipated that any disturbances will arise. The Northern Minister of Home Affairs, Sir Dawson Bates, will be on duty at the town office of the Ministry in Chichester street all day to-morrow in case he is required, and will be in close touch with Sir Charles Wickham, head of the police force, and the police throughout the province. Extra police have been brought into Belfast, and the barracks in the vicinity of the "mixed areas," where trouble may arise, have been taxed to their utmost capacity. Last night and to-day armoured cars filled with police maintained a constant patrol in these areas.

BARRICADES

In the York street and North Queen street districts a number of the corrugated iron barricades between Protestant and Catholic parts of the streets have been restored as a precautionary measure. These barricades were erected during the disturbances last year, but were taken down about a month ago as peace in the areas had been completely restored. The police authorities evidently considered it desirable that a few of these should be retained for the next few weeks.

Last night the finishing touches were given to the orange arches and bunting in the Protestant areas. The display of arches this year is as great as on any former "Twelfth," particularly in the Shankill, Donegall road and the Ballymacarrett district of East Belfast, while there are also numerous arches in the York street area. In many streets bunting and streamers are taking the place of the usual orange arches. In some of them miles of bunting have been used, and this lavish display presents a very colourful spectacle.

THE DEMONSTRATION

The Orange demonstration in Belfast to-morrow is expected to be the largest which has taken place in recent years. About 40,000 Orangemen will march through the streets to the Orangemen's own field at Woodlands, Finaghy. Most of the districts will assemble in the vicinity of Carlisle Circus, and will proceed to Finaghy by Donegall street, Royal avenue, Donegall square West, Dublin road and Lisburn road. The No. 10 District is to join the procession at Donegall square North. Senator Sir Joseph Davison, D.L., Grand Master of the Belfast Orangemen, will preside at the demonstration, and the principal speakers at the meeting will be the Rev. Louis Crooks, M.A., Grand Chaplain; Captain the Right Hon. Herbert Dixon, D.L., M.P.; the Rev. James Tolland, Deputy Grand Chaplain, and Senator Joseph Cunningham.

In the special instructions for the conduct of the demonstration it is stated: "No brother shall enter any public-house with his colours on, under pain of suspension." "The unseemly practice of 'jazzing' or dancing the banners is condemned by Grand Lodge."

It is suggested that all brethren taking part in the demonstration should wear a collar or sash distinctive of the Orange Institution, and not wear in addition the regalia of a sister Order. It is hoped in this way that the procession will present a uniform appearance.

PREMIER AT LAMBEG

Viscount Craigavon, the Northern Prime Minister, will speak at a meeting of the Lisburn districts of the Orangemen at Lambeg. The second largest meeting will be at Omagh, where 25,000 Orangemen in the North-West districts will assemble. The principal speakers there will be the Attorney-General, the Right Hon. A. B. Babington; Mr. E. S. Murphy, K.C., M.P., and Senator Sir Ernest Herdman, K.B.E.

There will also be demonstrations at Castlerock, Dromore, Carrickfergus, Ballynahinch, Newtownards, Ballygawley, Ballymena, Bannside, Braid, Lisbellaw, Irvinestown, Derrygonnelly, Cookstown, and Rossnowlagh, Co. Donegal.

"THE TWELFTH"

SERVICE IN DERRY

PREACHER ON APPEALS FOR PEACE

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

DERRY, Sunday.

One thousand Orangemen were present at a Service in Christ Church, Londonderry, this evening, under the auspices of the City of Derry Grand Orange Lodge. Viscount Craigavon, Prime Minister of Northern Ireland, was present with Lady Craigavon. The procession, which also included the Mayor, Senator Captain J. M. Wilton, M.C., halted at The Diamond, where the Prime Minister laid a wreath on the City War Memorial. The preacher at the Service was the Rev. J. G. MacManaway, M.A., Rector of Christ Church.

The preacher denied that Orangemen started the trouble in Belfast, and said that many of them were disgusted at the appeals for peace, which had been made. Orangemen did not ambush their own procession and murder seven of their own comrades. The responsibility for those dreadful days lay on the cowardly ruffians who prepared the ambush, and fired wantonly into a perfectly peaceful and orderly procession. Sinn Fein succeeded in the South, but tried and failed in the North. They were always waiting a chance to shoot again, but they would not be intimidated. Oranegemen were the cream of the Northern people, and there was no need to appeal to them to conduct themselves.

Continuing, the preacher said: "I cannot recall a year when there was any trouble until last year, when the Orange procession in Belfast was ambushed by a crowd of cowardly assasins."

Concluding, the preacher said: "It is not our fault that most of the rebels belong to a different faith from us. We respect the religious convictions of our Roman Catholic neighbours, but we will not respect, and we will not tolerate, disloyalty and treason to our King and Empire. To do so would be a betrayal of the plain teaching of Christianity."

SERVICE IN ENNISKILLEN

DEAN OF CLOGHER AND "WILD STATEMENTS"

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

ENNISKILLEN, Sunday.

The Very Rev. H. MacManaway, preaching at an Orange Service in Enniskillen Cathedral this morning, said that there were those who would cause trouble among them if they could. But he had implicit faith in the commonsense and the behaviour of the Orangemen of Ulster. They had been sorely tried and provoked. False statements and accusations were being hurled at them. In a well-known and influential Dublin newspaper it was said on Friday last: "Year after year the July processions deliberately provoke trouble among Roman Catholics, who, being human, are not slow to retaliate."

What a terrible perversion of the truth, said the preacher.

He asked them to realise that all the wild statements concerning them were not true. They should take the advice of St. Peter—seek peace. They should look at things from the other person's view-point. There was a little streak of gold in most men, if they could only see it. Whatever people's religious or political views might be, they were all brothers under the same heavenly Father.

BURNED HIS HOUSE

BANGOR DRAPER SENT TO JAIL

A Bangor (Co. Down) draper, Robert John Wilson, was found guilty at the Down Assizes at Downpatrick on Saturday evening on a charge of having on November 16th last set fire to his premises at High street, Belfast, with intent to defraud two insurance companies and the Down County Council.

Mr. Justice Megaw sentenced him to 12 months' hard labour.

Mr. Beattie, K.C., for the prosecution, said that at about 11.55 p.m. Constable Barton met the accused man, who said that his shop was ablaze. He did not give much assistance to witness when they reached the premises.

Subsequently the accused man brought a claim against the County Council, but when the case came before the Court he did not enter the witness box.

He alleged that £50 was stolen from the cash register, but the police could not find the slightest evidence that the cash register had been tampered with.

He started business about a year previous with £400 in the bank. At the time of the fire he was £28 in debt to the bank, and owed money to several retailers. He had insurance policies with two companies. On August 1, 1935, he increased one policy for £400 to £3,000, and on the day of the fire he paid the premium on that policy.

Head Constable Walker said that on the day following the fire the accused told him that during the Belfast riots in July two men entered his shop and told him to clear out or be burned out. He alleged that they were Catholics because of the badges they wore. He had not reported this, he said, because the police had enough to do in the Belfast riots.

The accused man, who was almost two hours in the box, said that he locked up his premises at about 10.15 p.m. With Miss Joan Brown, he proceeded to her house to see her sister, Agnes, who was his fiancée.

He left his fiancée about 11.30 p.m. and called to a shop. He then went to his own premises. Someone told him the shop was on fire. He tried to enter the premises, but could not do so owing to the smoke. He then telephoned the fire brigade. He denied that he had anything to do with the burning of his shop.

Miss Joan Brown corroborated the accused's evidence as to his locking up the premises and leaving with her for her house.

Miss Agnes Brown, who said that she was engaged to the accused man, stated that he was with her until about 11.30 p.m.

COUNTY DONEGAL AERIDHEACHT

FIANNA FAIL POLICY DEFENDED

Upwards of four thousand people were present at the Aeridheacht which was held at Narin on Saturday.

Speaking in Irish, Mr. Cormac Breathnach, T.D., said that the Fianna Fail Party was fulfilling 100 per cent. of the pledges given in 1932. In the course of that election campaign Fianna Fail pledged itself to provide work for every citizen. That pledge was being fulfilled. Unfortunately there were yet a great many unemployed, but within the operation of the Fianna Fail economic and social policy that position would in due course be remedied. Recent acts of the Government were being criticised in certain quarters, but the position was simple. It was that in no country could there be at the same time two authorities with power of life and death over the citizens. That could only result in civil turmoil. The Government's actions were intended to avoid any unfortunate contingency.

"I maintain that every Act passed by Dail Eireann once Fianna Fail became a Government is one which has for its object the upraising of the State, either socially, economically, or nationally, and I challenge contradiction on that issue. The Fianna Fail policy, I feel certain, recommends itself to every citizen, and will be generally endorsed at the general election which will be held probably early next year."

Omagh School Contract.—At Omagh Regional Education Committee on Saturday ten tenders were received for the erection of the new Omagh Technical School Academy and administrative buildings. The tender of Mr. James Laffin, Lisburn, at £28,696 was accepted.

THE WAY TO END PARTITION

MUST CONVERT MR. DE VALERA

ORANGE LEADERS' "DISEASED MENTALITY"

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

BOYLE, Sunday.

SPEAKING at Breedogue, County Roscommon, to-day, Mr. Frank MacDermot, T.D., said that the Government had learned that ordered liberty was not consistent with the toleration of an organisation which claimed the right of life and death over the citizens, and that to protect the State against violence was not a low and mean trick for steam-rollering political opponents. They had learned that the British market was not a curse but a blessing, and, so far as their hands were not tied by the dispute over the annuities, they were doing their best to take advantage of that market. They had learned that there was no better factory than a prosperous farm, and that the buying power of the agricultural community must be maintained and improved if other industries were to have any lasting success.

They had learned other things, such as the undesirability of an Opposition decrying the financial credit of the country or wildly accusing Ministers of subservience to Great Britain, which, he hoped, they would remember if they found themselves again in Opposition.

"OPPOSITION LEARNING"

The Opposition were also learning. Less than a year ago the bulk of them, including Mr. Dillon, had declined to support a motion urging the Government to come off the fence on the republic issue; now they were urging the Government to do that very thing. In the past they had shown great timidity about accepting Commonwealth partnership with cordiality, instead of a disagreeable necessity, and especially about recognising the position of the King in our constitution, not as King of a foreign country, but as King of Ireland, acting on the advice of his Irish Ministers. Recent speeches showed that the Opposition had learned wisdom in these matters and realised that it would be better to leave the Commonwealth than to be in it and not of it. They had also changed for the better their attitude towards Mr. de Valera's actions at Geneva. On the other hand, they had blundered in opposing the trade agreement with Great Britain and in refusing to co-operate in the Second Chamber Commission.

On July 12 their thoughts naturally turned to the North. The question of national reunion had always been to him the thing that really mattered, the thing that had brought him into Free State politics, and which still kept him there.

Some Reublicans evidently believed that by declaring a republic they would get back the six counties. If declaring a republic would get back the six counties the sooner it was declared the better. But he saw only one way in which declaring a republic might lead to getting back the six counties. It was that, having tasted the fruits of complete separation from the Commonwealth and the privileges of the Commonwealth, the people might decide that they had gained nothing in liberty and lost a great deal in influence and security, as well as in material prosperity. That might be the surest way to make it possible for us to be in the Commonwealth without feeling we are there under duress. But it was a hard and expensive road to travel, and if political leaders of all parties would tell the people the truth he did not think it would be necessary to travel it.

PARTITION A DISEASE

The truth was that partition was a disease which Irishmen themselves must cure, and they could only cure it with the help of a good deal of patience and a good deal of courage. "We need not expect any assurances from the Orange leaders that they will come in with us if we give up Republicanism. These leaders are suffering from a diseased mentality which only a long treatment can change, and the treatment cannot begin until the root of the trouble is cut out." That root was the fear of separation from their kith and kin and their markets overseas, and the belief that we were eternally the enemies of Great Britain.

The question was sometimes asked why a majority of the nation should sacrifice its sentiments to a minority. It was not the sacrifice of sentiments that he was recommending, but the formation of sentiments that took account of all the facts and not merely of part of them. The die-hard Republican just shut his eyes to the existence of a racial problem similar in essentials to the racial problem in South Africa. If we put racial triumph above the country's welfare there was no more to be said, but if we really wanted Ireland to grow to her full stature we must be prepared to make almost any concession, short of surrendering national sovereignty, in order to bring the two races together. It was as useless for us to try to dragoon the Northerners into a republic as it had been for the Ascendency to try to dragoon us into acceptance of the Union. Charity and reasonableness would win over Unionist Ulster in the end, if they were given a chance, but they could not have that chance so long as there was any considerable body of Republicans in the Irish Free State. That was why he had never been able to feel a great interest in the mere defeat of Mr. de Valera.

It was the conversion of Mr. de Valera and his followers to the doctrines of true statesmanship that had to be accomplished.

NO MORE DANCING

CASHEL CITY HALL CLOSED

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

CASHEL, Sunday.

The question of dancing in Cashel City Hall was again discussed at an informal meeting of the Urban Council called last evening, as a result of the reception by the Chairman (Mr. Francis Phillips, P.C.) of a letter from the Right Rev. Mgr. Innocent Ryan, P.P., V.G., Cashel, stating: "The obligation of my position as pastor of souls in Cashel compels me to inform you officially that the letting of our City Hall for bi-weekly dances has become and is a serious and urgent source of moral danger and corruption to our young folk, a scandal in the parish, and a matter that should be corrected immediately. Hence I apply to you as Chairman of the Urban Council to summon at the earliest possible a special meeting of the Urban Council to deal with the matter, and I ask for the privilege of addressing the meeting."

Monsignor Ryan said that he visited the hall on the previous night and heard a great "hullabaloo" going on in the upper portion of the hall, and when he entered the dance chamber he saw "a most objectionable dance" in progress. There were present between 200 and 300 pople, many being from all parts of the country. Feeling constrained to appeal to the Cashel boys and girls, he asked them to withdraw from the hall for the time being. With one or two exceptions they left in a body.

The ringleader, he said, tried to shout him down, and said: "On with the dance, boys." This individual insulted him, and told him that the hall was his for the time, and that he would be there in spite of anybody. He protested against the Council letting the hall to the same set of individuals week after week, and asked to have the hall closed indefinitely against dancing.

The Chairman said that they very much deplored what had happened. He was in favour of shutting the hall against dancing.

Mr. Patrick Devitt said that it was their duty to fall in with the Dean's wishes, and Mr. John Maher agreed, and said that, if he had his way, he would close down the hall for ever against the crowd who were in it on Friday night.

On the motion of Mr. C. O'Connor, seconded by Mr. P. Purcell, the Council unanimously decided to instruct their agent to cancel the booking for to-night, and to recommend to the Council to close the hall indefinitely against dancing.

The Oil Refinery.—Deputations of public bodies in Cork and Galway will visit Dublin during the week to urge the claim of their respective counties as a site for the proposed crude oil refinery.

BOYLE MURDER CHARGE

PRISONER TRACED BY BANK ACCOUNT

SCENE AT SCOTTISH POLICE STATION

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

BOYLE, Saturday.

AT a Special Court in Boyle to-day Thomas Kelly, who was arrested at Coatbridge, Lanarkshire, was charged with murdering Patrick Henry at Great Meadow, Boyle, on September 12 or 13 of last year.

The evidence had not concluded when the Court adourned.

Mr. Kevin Haugh (instructed by Mr. P. J. Neilan, State Solicitor), who prosecuted, said that both Henry and Kelly were formerly in the United States. About March 2nd, 1935, Henry rented the small house in which he was found dead on December 13 last.

Early in May, 1935, Henry was joined in residence by Kelly. Evidence would be produced to show that they lived quietly there up to September 10, when they were last seen. Both were in receipt of unemployment assistance. After that time neither man claimed the money.

Counsel detailed the circumstances connected with the finding of Henry's body, bearing many wounds and partly burned, locked in the house.

Evidence would be produced, he said, that Kelly made remarks of a derogatory nature about Henry, which showed that the terms between them were not of a friendly nature. Both Kelly and Henry stated that they had no means when applying for unemployment assistance, but the facts would prove that the contrary was the case.

Some weeks before September 10 Henry called at a shoemakers in Boyle to get a stitch put in his boot. The repair cost only 6d., but as it was a Monday the shoemaker, who was superstitious, decided to take the money.

Henry produced a wad of notes, which the shoemaker estimated to be fifteen to twenty-five in number, and tendered a £5 note. The shoemaker could not see the other notes, but if they were £5 notes Henry had probably £80 to £100. Henry got the note changed outside.

A BANK ACCOUNT

Evidence would be produced to show that Kelly had deposited a sum of about £100 in the Hibernian Bank, Sligo, and that he drew on that deposit on two occasions prior to September 12. On September 12 Kelly presented himself at the bank, where there was a sum of £90 to his credit. He drew £10, leaving the rest on deposit in his own name.

On May 19 of this year Kelly presented himself at the North of Scotland Bank, Coatbridge, Lanarkshire, and presented a deposit receipt for £80, and asked the manager to have the sum collected for him from Sligo, and put it to his account in Coatbridge.

It was known to the police that Kelly had the money on deposit. Guard Hawkshaw, of Boyle, and Detective Officer Brady, of Dublin, both of whom knew Kelly by appearance, went to Coatbridge. They, with members of the Coatbridge police, watched from a place opposite the bank. On June 5 Guard Hawkshaw recognised Kelly going into the bank.

Kelly had £14 in his possession when arrested—£4 more than he had drawn in Sligo.

George Finlay MacDougall, agent of the North of Scotland Bank, Coatbridge, gave evidence that on May 9 last Kelly called at the bank with a deposit receipt for £80, drawn on Hibernian Bank, Sligo, and asked him to collect the money and place it to his credit in witness's bank. Witness agreed, but explained that it would require ten days' withdrawal notice. Kelly said that was all right, that he was not really wanting money, but that it could lie with witness on credit.

Witness asked Kelly to endorse the receipt, and he wrote "Thomas Kelly, St. John street, Coatbridge." Kelly said that he was not sure of the number of the house, but that it did not matter, as he was only staying there until the following Saturday, as he might be going away.

Witness said he would have a reply by the following Saturday, and Kelly said that that was all right, as it might be a month before he would return.

James Douglas Grant MacDonald, another official of the bank, gave evidence of Kelly calling at the bank on June 5 and inquiring about the money.

THE ARREST

Constable William Young, of the Coatbridge police, said:—"At 10 a.m. on June 5, in company with Guard Hawkshaw and Detective Officer Brady, I took up duty in an office from which we had a view of the North of Scotland Bank at Coatbridge. I had been on similar duty on the previous Tuesday at 2.30 p.m.

"Myself and Guard Hawkshaw were still in that office, and, following something said to me by Guard Hawkshaw, I looked out of the window. I saw a man enter the bank. Myself and the Guard immediately left the office and went to the junction of Main street and Academy street.

"I saw the accused leaving the bank shortly afterwards and stopped him. I was in plain clothes.

"I said: 'I am a police officer; would you tell me your name?' He replied, 'John Hill.'

"I then asked the accused man where he resided. He stated, 'Coatbridge.' Guard Hawkshaw then came forward and I said: 'I would like you would accompany us to the police station for an interview.'

"Before we reached St. John street Guard Hawkshaw asked the accused man his name, and he replied 'Kelly'; the Guard then asked him his first name, and he replied 'Tom.'

"At the police station," continued witness, "I directed the accused man up the steps. I entered, with him behind me and Guard Hawkshaw following him.

"When I got in I heard a shout from Guard Hawkshaw. On looking round I saw blood coming from the left side of the accused man's neck, and also I saw that he had a safety-razor blade in his right hand.

"He struggled violently with us, and several other officers in the office came to our assistance. We applied first aid, and he resisted our efforts. A doctor was summoned by telephone. He arrived and tended the wounds, and had him removed to the infirmary by ambulance.

"I was present in the police office afterwards and saw £14 in notes, which were taken from him. I took possession of the suit of clothes he was wearing at the hospital and handed same to Detective-Officer Brady."

PLAYED DRAUGHTS

Adam Smith, superintendent of the Trades' Hotel, Coatbridge, said: "On the 9th of June I went to the Glasgow Infirmary, and recognised a man there in bed whom I knew as Thomas Smith, and whom I now recognise as the accused.

"I walked over to the bedside, and he said: 'Is that you?' I said, 'How are you keeping, Tom?' He did not speak. He simply nodded his head.

"I made some other observations as to how did this happen, and he nodded his head and did not speak. After that I examined the books of the hotel and found the days Kelly stayed there. Kelly occupied room 352 from October 5, 1935, to February 20, 1936; room 297 from February 21 to 27, 1936; room 292 from March 16 to 22; room 290 from April 27 to May 3; room 290 from May 10 to 20; room 343 from June 3.

"There is no record of his stay in the hotel on June 4. In fact, it is not possible. My record shows that he was there continuously from October 5 to February 27, and paid during that time. I saw him at least five days out of the seven. I usually saw him on afternoons and evenings on the premises. When he took up residence there in October he had a moustache of probably two or three weeks' growth."

Mr. Haugh—Could you tell how he occupied his time during those months?

Witness—He was a man who had little or no conversation for anyone, and he spent a good deal of time n the games or recreation room, watching the various games, including dominoes, draughts and, occasionally, chess. From the time Kelly arrived in October he was in no employment. He paid me 4s. 6d. a week for his bed. He would have to pay for his own food over and above that. Kelly played draughts, and bought a set for his own use.

Witness described the clothes Kelly used to wear, and said that Kelly used never talk much. On one occasion witness said to Kelly that he was "one of the Clan Smith," like himself, and Kelly, who had given his name as Smith, said he was. Out of kindness he got Kelly an opponent to teach him draughts.

Kelly always paid for a week in advance. The only occason he paid for one night was the 3rd of June.

Gardai headquarters' witnesses gave evidence explaining maps, models and photographs, the latter including pictures of Henry's dead body.

NEIGHBOUR'S STORY

Mrs. Mary K. Brennan, who lived beside Henry's house, said that Kelly and Henry cut turf together. Henry got a newspaper every day, and she often heard murmurs, as if Henry was reading for Kelly. Kelly had no moustache while he lived there. Tuesday, September 10th was the last day she saw Henry going into the house. About one or two o'clock on September 11th she saw Kelly go into the house. There was no padlock on the door then. About fifteen minutes later Kelly came out, wearing an overcoat, and went towards the town. That was the last she saw of him.

Michael Redican, shoemaker, gave evidence in support of counsel's statement about Henry's wad of notes.

Miss H. Callaghan gave evidence of letting the house to Henry, whom she last saw alive on September 9th.

During this witness's evidence the witness's sister, Miss Josie Callaghan, stood up among the crowd in the courthouse and interrupted counsel.

The Court adjourned.

NEW FLEET FOR BRITAIN

"MATTER OF LIFE AND DEATH"

THE MOST VULNERABLE SOCIETY IN EUROPE

BRITAIN is to have practically a new Fleet, and it will be "strong enough to go anywhere, and to carry out its duties in any conditions."

Sir Samuel Hoare, First Lord of the Admiralty, made this announcement at Southampton on Saturday.

"We have delayed so long in the rebuilding of our Fleet that we are now faced with the problem of building what virtually amounts to a new Fleet," he said.

"That this new Fleet should be built upon this right lines is a matter of life and death to us, and I can assure you that every possible effort will be made to avail ourselves of the teachings of practical experience, of the discoveries and inventions of science, and of the lessons of actual experiment to ensure the best designs and the soundest methods of construction.

AIR POWER

"As our life depends upon free passage through the seven seas of the world, the Fleet must be strong enough to go anywhere, and to carry out its duties in any conditions. It is our determination to have such a Fleet, and to build it with the least possible delay."

Sir Samuel said that the "new and formidable threat" of air power had made what was once the most secure island in the world "the most vulnerable society in Europe."

It was with the determination to reach at the earliest possible date air parity with the strongest Power within range of their shores that new squadrons were being created and new machines produced.

"Let us remember the fundamental fact," Sir Samuel said, "that while we wish to see all possible progress made in the air and upon the land, it is upon the sea that this country and this Empire depend for their existence.

STARVATION IN SIX WEEKS

"If our sea communications are cut we have a supply of raw materials that will only last our industries for three months, but that supply would be more than we should need, for within six weeks we should be dead of starvation."

Sir Samuel said that the rebuilding of the Navy was likely to confer great benefits upon many of the districts that had been most grievously smitten by misfortune in recent years.

"A rough calculation of the new construction programme upon which we are embarked goes to show that, up to date, out of an expenditure of about twenty-three millions, no less than twenty millions have gone in orders to the depressed and specially hit areas," he said.

He saw no reason why the assistance should not be maintained.

FIVE KILLED AND 37 INJURED

WOMAN DRIVER'S CRASH TO AVOID SPECTATOR

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

SAN PAULO, Sunday.

A serious accident, in which a car somersaulted three times, five spectators were killed, and the woman driver and thirty-seven spectators seriously injured, occurred during the course of the San Paulo street motor race to-day.

Mlle. Helle Nice, the well-known French driver, was racing neck and neck with a rival at about 100 miles an hour, fighting for third place, when a spectator tried to cross the road in front of her. Doing the only thing possible to avoid hitting him, Mlle. Nice braked hard, causing her car to mount the pavement. The car turned over three times before the driver was flung a distance of more than twenty yards into one of the stands.

Mlle. Helle Nice sustained grave injuries, and the doctors say she is in a serious condition, though her life is not yet despaired of.

The race was won by the Italian Ferrari driver, Pintacuda, in an Alfa Romeo. Marinoni (Alfa Romeo) finished second.

More than half a million people lined the course.

PRINCE "BIRA" WINS AGAIN

WEEK-END MOTORING RESULTS

BRITISH SUCCESSES IN BELGIAN GRAND PRIX

BRITISH cars and drivers scored a number of successes in motoring and motor cycling events of the week-end, the most important of these being the winning of the Grand Prix de l'Albigeois by Prince Birabougse in an E.R.A. This was his fourth big success of the year.

The Australian racing motorist, F. J. McEvoy, who captained the British team at the recent Winter Olympic Games, had a narrow escape from death when the Maserati which he was driving turned over. McEvoy was travelling at over a hundred miles an hour when his car somersaulted twice and then burst into flames. The car was completely destroyed, but, by an amazing piece of luck, the driver emerged unscathed.

One by one the drivers dropped out through various causes until only three were left. They were "Bira," the winner; Verron (Bugatti) second, and Ruesch (Maserati) third.

In the Belgian twenty-four-hour Grand Prix, which ended at four o'clock yesterday afternoon at Francorchamps, R. J. B. Seaman and F. E. Clifford, driving a Lagonda, won the class for over 4,000 c.c. unsupercharged cars by covering 890 laps, representing 1,702 miles, at an average speed of 117.332 kilometres (approximately 73½ miles) an hour.

Aston Martins filled the first two places in the class for cars from 1,100 c.c. to 1,500 c.c. unsupercharged. The winning car was driven by W. Headlam and C. H. Wood, who covered 171 laps, nearly 1,589 miles, at an average speed of 105.9 kilometres (approximately 66¼ miles) an hour.

The second Aston Martin, driven by A. N. L. MacLachlan and M. Falkner, had covered 133 laps when gear trouble was experienced. Left with only a top gear, the drivers decided to complete the race strictly in accordance with the rules, and continued to do one lap an hour until the race was over. They were placed second.

FRENCH AND GERMAN

The one Singer left in the under 1,100 c.c. class, driven by A. Alexandroff and P. Goldschmidt, a French pair, gained second place. They covered 139 laps at an average speed of 85.924 kilometres (approximately 53⅜ miles) an hour. The winner of this class was a Fiat driven by A. Gordini, who covered 149 laps at an average speed of 92.039 kilometres (approximately 57½ miles an hour.

The class for cars from 1,501 c.c. to 2,000 c.c. was won by the German Adler-Trumpf, driven by R. S. Auerwein and Graf Orsich, who covered approximately 2,450 miles at an average speed of 103.368 kilometres. A Triumph, driven by A. Rolt and J. Elliott, was fourth.

The cup presented by King Albert for the best factory team of three cars was won by Adler-Trumpf. The Aston Martins were well placed until the retirement of the car driven by Sir Alasdair MacRobert and J. C. Elwes, who, after leading the 2,000 c.c. class for 1,170 miles, had to drop out owing to a broken petrol pipe.

Only one car finished in the 4,000 c.c. supercharged class, the Alfa Romeo driven by the Frenchmen, R. Sommer and F. Severi, who covered a distance of approximately 1,876 miles at an average speed of 87½ miles an hour. During the run they established a new lap record.

There was an exciting incident when, during re-filling at the pits, some petrol was spilt on the hot exhaust pipe of a Chrysler which caught fire. The flames were promptly extinguished. A Bugatti was put out of action when it skidded and overturned. The drivers escaped unhurt.

Thirty-seven cars started, and eighteen finished.

IRISH RIDER THIRD

In the Dutch motor cycle T.T. on Saturday the results were:—

500 c.c.—1, J. Guthrie, Norton, 85.2 m.p.h.; 2, "Grizzley," Sarolea; 3, Ginger Wood, Norton.

350 c.c.—1, J. H. White, Norton, 82 m.p.h.; 2, F. L. Frith, Norton; 3, H. E. Newman, Velocette.

A. Geiss, D.K.W., won the 250 c.c. class at 78 m.p.h. H. C. Tyrell Smith, Dublin, on an Excelsior, was third.

EYSTON STARTS

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

SALT LAKE CITY, Sunday.

Captain G. E. T. Eyston, who recently set up a world's record for one hour, started his attempt to beat all records from 3 to 48 hours in his car, Speed of the Wind, at Conneville Salt Flats at 4.30 p.m. (B.S.T.).

It is not known how many records have been broken so far. It is definitely announced, however, that those for the 500 kilometres and 500 miles, 1,000 kilometres and six hours have been surpassed.

The official time for the 1,000 kilometres was 151.522 m.p.h., which easily beat the 145.01 m.p.h. established by John Cobb in his Napier-Railton car last year.

It is understood that the record of 151.72 m.p.h. for the 200 miles, made by Ab Jenkins last year, has not been broken, a stop at the pits for refuelling causing a drop in the average.

CONNACHT FEIS

OPENED BY PRESIDENT DE VALERA

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

GORT, Sunday.

Feis Connacht was officially opened here to-day by President de Valera in the presence of a large attendance. The President was met outside the town by members of the Feis Committee and escorted by the Tulla Pipers' Band to the Feis ground, where he was met by a guard of honour. The town was decorated with national flags and streamers bearing Gaelic inscriptions. When President de Valera rose to speak he was loudly applauded.

Speaking in Irish, Mr. de Valera said that that great Feis reminded him of the great feiseanna that were held thirty years ago. The noble work that the Gaelic League had initiated was succeeding, and young and old were helping to establish Irish as the spoken language of the people. The Gaelic League succeeded in convincing the people of the necessity for the language, the customs, the dances, and the games of the Gael, and that they were an integral part of nationality. The people knew that without these distinctive things they would be only West Britons and that Ireland would be only a little Britain.

Not alone, said the speaker, were there good customs to be preserved and practised, but there were bad customs to be eliminated. The Gaelic League was co-operating with other bodies in the fight against intemperance and the fight against indifference to or contempt for Irish manufacture. The nation was awakening, and the spirit of nationality was growing in the hearts of the people. Games, dancing and, he believed, Irish manufactures were safe and progressing rapidly. The language is also going ahead, but scarcely out of danger yet, and now is the time to make it safe by a determined and continued effort.

In the early days of the Gaelic League the State was opposed to the teaching of Irish, but now the State was strongly on the side of the language, but no Government could restore the language without the help and co-operation of the people, and if the people did their duty he could promise that the Government would not be backward in giving aid.

He did not disguise the fact that for adults there was some difficulty in learning a language, but the work was worth doing, and one of its rewards for the individual would be in the consciousness of being a better Irishman.

Amongst those who in a very busy life had learned Irish were Pearse, Thomas MacDonagh, Cathal Brugha, Denis Fleming and Peadar Macken. In conclusion, he urged a wider use of the language by those with any knowledge of it, and the establishment of an Irish-speaking bond between the school children and the older people in the districts where the language survives.

Other speakers included Mr. Seumas Kelly, T.D., Mr. Miceol O'Siocgradha, Mr. D. O'Dunadhaighe, Mr. Sean O'Longain, Mr. P. de Bhaldraithe and Mr. Fionan MacColum.

The Rev. J. Curran, C.C., Gort, presided.

FATAL MOTORING ACCIDENTS

MAN'S DEATH IN A BLAZING CAR

SOLICITOR KILLED ON NIGHT DRIVE

TWO men lost their lives in unusual motoring accidents in the South of England during the week-end.

One, a wealthy visitor from Buenos Ayres, was burned to death yesterday when his sports car turned a somersault after skidding on the Eastbourne road, near Lingfield, Surrey.

The other was in a car which crashed into a ditch between Forest Row, Sussex, and Wych Cross, and remained upside down concealed by bracken and undergrowth for twelve hours before discovery.

SKIDDING CAR

The man who died in the blazing car was Emilio Bunge (40), who had been staying at a West End hotel. People who saw the car skid and overturn in the roadside ditch made ineffectual attempts to save him.

"The car caught fire immediately," one of them told a reporter. "The man was conscious when we reached the car, but the flames and fumes quickly overcame him. The heat of the blazing petrol was so fierce that we were driven back. We had to stand by helpless until the blaze had subsided."

Mr. Bunge arrived from the Argentine about three weeks ago. On Saturday he left in his sports car, intending to be back before night.

FALL INTO A DITCH

In the car in which his body remained undiscovered for twelve hours, Ma' Charles H. Bert Blackett (48), Green lane, Harrogate, was, at midnight on Friday, motoring to Sussex where his wife was on holiday.

The car mounted the kerb at a double bend in the road, struck the embankment, and toppled upside down into the ditch. Major Blackett was killed instantly.

The ditch was ten feet deep, and the growth through which the car crashed sprang back into place.

The accident was discovered by a cyclist, who happened to look into the ditch as he passed on Saturday.

Major Blackett was a solicitor, senior partner of the law firm of Blakett Calvert and McCandlish, of Harrogate and Leeds, and deputy-coroner for the Ripon district.

OBITUARY

LORD YARBOROUGH

Lord Yarborough, Lord Lieutenant of Lincolnshire, landowner, agriculturist and sportsman, died in a London hotel yesterday, aged 77. He had been in indifferent health for some time. He went to London for a fortnight at the end of June, and had intended to return to his home, Brocklesby Park, Harbrough, Lincolnshire, in a few days' time. He became seriously ill at his hotel, however, and was unable to do so. The Countess of Yarborough, who was Baroness Fauconberg and Conyers in her own right, died nine years ago. The heir is Baron Conyers, their second son. The eldest son, Lord Worsley, was killed in action in 1914. Just over five years ago Lord Yarborough celebrated the double jubilee of accession to his estates and to the Mastership of the Brocklesby Hounds. The pack had been controlled by his family almost wholly since its origin about 1700. Lord Yarborough owned about 50,000 acres of land in North Lincolnshire, including some of the finest woodlands in the country. He and his predecessors continuously replenished their woods for the last 150 years, and records show that by 1925 they had planted about 30,000,000 trees. In 1935, during the stay of King George and Queen Mary at Eastbourne, Lord Yarborough was invested with the insignia of a Knight of the Order of the Garter. Brocklesby Park has a picture gallery containing works by Sir Joshua Reynolds, Turner, Stubbs, Rembrandt, and Italian masters, while there is also a large and valuable collection of antique statuary collected about 1780 by Sir Richard Worsley, British Minister in Venice.

THE REV. WILLIAM CORRIGAN

The Methodist Church in Ireland has suffered the loss of one of its best known ministers by the death, after a brief illness, of the Rev. William Corrigan. He was born at Churchhill, Enniskillen, on 16th March, 1863, and on the completion of his education entered upon a commercial career. He was accepted as a candidate for the ministry in 1888, and was appointed to Arklow. Subsequent rural appointments were Charlemont, Maryborough and Skibbereen; but in 1895 he was called to be minister of the Ballymacarrett congregation in Belfast, and thereafter his ministry was exercised in important city circuits, Duncairn Gardens and Knock, in Belfast; Blackhall place and Rathmines, in Dublin, and Cork and Limerick all claiming him. As a preacher, pastor, and administrator he had qualities of mind and heart that endeared him to those to whom he ministered, and enabled him to inaugurate many schemes for the benefit of Irish Methodism. After forty-two years of faithful service he retired from the active work of the ministry in 1930, and attached himself to the Knock congregation, Belfast. He, however, continued to serve the Church with undiminished zeal. At the Conference held in Belfast last month he delivered an impassioned address to an audience of two thousand people on the claims of home mission work. He is survived by his wife and one daughter.

DR. WILLIAM TURNER

Much regret is felt at Kilmallock on the death of the Right Rev. Dr. William Turner, Bishop of Buffalo. He was expected to visit his home at Ardkilmartin soon, but the message that arrived yesterday brought news of his death. He was about sixty-six years of age, and belonged to a family of ten—five boys and five girls. Three of his brothers became priests and three of his sisters nuns, but, of the ten, only one survives. At early Mass in Kilmallock yesterday, the Very Rev. Canon Mulcahy, D.D., paid a tribute to the memory of Bishop Turner, and referred to his generosity in respect of the church and the Girls' National School. High Mass, at which the Most Rev. Dr. Keane, Bishop of Limerick, will preside, will be celebrated at Kilmallock on Friday for Bishop Turner.

DR. THOMAS G. BARTON

The death of Dr. Thomas George Barton, physician and surgeon, took place at his home, Dexterville, 67 Chase Cross road, Romford, Essex, on Friday week last. He was born in 1864 at Monastereven, Co. Carlow, the son of the late Rev. Thomas George Houston Barton, D.D., late of The Rectory, Rathcoole, Co. Dublin, and educated at Trinity College, Dublin. He qualified in 1886, and was made a Licentiate of the Royal College of Surgeons, Ireland. From 1910 to 1922 he served as police surgeon at Chadwell Heath, where he practised for twenty-two years, and during the war he was recruiting medical officer at Dagenham and medical officer at the gun station at Chadwell Heath. He had been in semi-retirement for the past sixteen years, while he lived at Romford, and had been in failing health for some time. Dr. Barton was a keen Rugby football player in his youth, and was at one time reserve for the Irish fifteen. He married in 1912 Miss Rose Louise Abbott, and is survived by two sons and a daughter.

THEFT CHARGE

IRISHMAN SENTENCED AT LIVERPOOL

Thomas Watkins (49), of Dundalk, was sent to prison for six weeks at Liverpool Police Court last Saturday for stealing £7, an Army pay book, and two railway tickets from a soldier last Armistice Day.

Prosecuting, Mr. J. Tilley said that Watkins was staying at a Salvation Army hostel. Joseph McEvoy, a soldier of the Duke of Cornwall's Light Infantry also was staying there on leave, and when Watkins said that he was an Irishman a friendship sprang up on November 11th. They were in a public-house, and Watkins told McEvoy that it was dangerous in a city like Liverpool to carry a large amount of money as there were many thieves about. McEvoy was persuaded to hand over seven pounds to Watkins for safe custody. Later the accused man made an excuse to leave, and did not return. He was eventually arrested in Dublin last week.

Watkins denied that McEvoy gave him any money. McEvoy was drinking heavily. Witness had plenty of money of his own.

Watkins, who was found guilty, was stated to have been previously convicted in Dundalk.

SALE OF CALVES

(BEFORE MR. P. CUSSEN.)

Thomas Dignam, cattle-drover, no fixed abode, was charged by Superintendent E. J. Sheppard with having, by false pretences, obtained £6 from Thomas Mitchell, farmer, Kilkeaskam, Carbury, Co. Kildare, with intent to defraud.

Mr. Mitchell stated that he bought four calves in a yard in the cattle market, Prussia street, on July 2nd and paid the accused man £6 for them. The calves were the property of James Branagan, Donore avenue, Dublin, and the accused had no authority to sell them.

The defendant was bound over on his own bail of £10 for twelve months on the understanding that the money would be paid back to Mr. Mitchell within the next week.

HOOLIGANISM ALLEGED

James Lucey (16), messenger; Thomas Halpin (17) and John Halpin, Little Green street, chicken butcher, were charged with assault and being members of a disorderly crowd at North King street on Thursday night.

James Flanagan, Halston street, stated that while he was at the Kilcrea Dairy in North King street two of the girl assistants complained to him about a number of boys who had entered the shop and behaved in a disorderly and offensive manner. He tried to get the boys to leave the shop and they attacked him, dragged him into the street, knocked him down and kicked him on the head. A crowd of about fifty collected about the place.

Miss Mary Tobin and Miss Moira Holland, the shop assistants, gave evidence, and the defendants were remanded on bail until Wednesday.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel — and you'll jump out of bed in the morning full of vim and vigour

The liver should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives help a little, but a mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good old Carters Brand Little Liver Pills to get these two pints of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carters Brand Little Liver Pills. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 1/3d. and 3/-.

OUTBREAK NAPPED

Rashiegrain's Chance Fancied at Edinburgh

NOT often does Chepstow get the honour of being the principal race meeting of the day, but that is the case for the second half of their summer meeting. The programme is rather unpretentious. The biggest prize is the Summer Stakes, for which only £300 is added.

Fred Darling rarely fails when he sends a horse to this meeting. He will have Gordon Richards in the saddle on Outbreak, who is joint top-weight in a not very high-class field. Outbreak won over the same distance—a mile—at Salisbury. He appeared to be stopping at the finish of that race, but it may have been more a case of Lyons Mail coming with a long late run.

The other on the 8st. 13lb. mark is Cottrill's Battle Ground, winner in a close finish at Nottingham. Battle Ground will, I think, become a good handicapper at middle distances, if kept in his right class. He is certainly well suited to such company as this.

Skill has already won over the course this year. He finished strongly to win the Trelleck Plate at the May meeting in a bigger field than he will have to meet to-day. King Charles has made no show in either of his two races this year.

Gold Piece was fourth in a field of useful fillies for the Girton Handicap at Newmarket. Royal Pippin was not able to turn to advantage what looked like a good chance given her at Haydock. I think will win.

It should be borne in mind that Skill is also engaged in the Lysaght Plate. Carpet Knight may find this an easier proposition than the London Cup, in which he was not beaten far. He is owned by Mr. Cloke, who is having a run of luck before his departure to New Zealand for a holiday.

This is the sort of race in which Reefer does well. He was still running away from the others when he won at Ayr, so should get the extra furlong. I have most liking for

CARPET KNIGHT.

Mr. Lysaght, a well-known resident of the town, has a good chance of winning the Wye Valley Plate with his who won on Saturday, and may be saddled again. The alternative is Wilma's Ford, who will be ridden by Gordon Richards.

SCULPTRESS

Scottish meetings are still suffering from small entries and poor fields. Outlaw and Bell-ans are the best latest form horses in the Summer Handicap, but I doubt whether they will give the weight to an easy winner at Manchester.

FORTNIGHTLY CUP FINAL

A WELL-WON VICTORY FOR CHIPMUNKS

CHIPMUNKS ...... 4 ZEBRAS ...... 2

The splendid combination of Mr. J. Martin and Mr. W. Magee turned the scale in favour of Chipmunks, who defeated Zebras by four goals to two in the final of the Fortnightly Cup at the Nine Acres, Phœnix Park, on Saturday.

Mrs. D. W. Phibbs provided prizes for the winners and runners-up, and these she presented at the conclusion.

Mr. Magee was very sound at back, whilst Mr. Martin, at number three, was hitting very accurately, and the understanding of each other's play led to most of the attacks on the Zebras' goal. Zebras' defeat would probably have been more pronounced but for the excellent play of Mr. Johnson, who, at number three, never spared himself, but the forwards were too often out of position when the ball was hit up towards Chipmunks' goal.

Mr. H. Tyrrell, at back, played splendidly for the losers, but he, like all the others, was handicapped by the ball getting up at times on a ground that cut up a bit soon after the start.

Setting the pace in the first chukkar, Chipmunks looked like running up a big score, but they had not the best of luck with their scoring efforts—first Mr. Magee and then Mr. Martin being slightly wide with good shots. Next Mr. W. Tyrrell was unlucky when the ball went wide. After a long spell of defensive play Zebras attacked, and, following a series of mistakes in front of Chipmunks' posts, Mr. Johnson scored, to give Zebras the lead.

The scores were levelled by Mr. Martin at the start of the second period from a pass by Mr. Magee, and, two minutes later, Mr. Martin put his side ahead from a free hit at an open goal. Mr. H. Tyrrell equalised, but Mr. Martin completed the "hat trick" to restore Chipmunks' one-goal advantage.

Chipmunks had a couple of narrow escapes in the third chukkar, which was scoreless, Mr. Johnson twice hitting an upright and the ball going wide. In the final chukkar Mr. Martin hit his fourth goal, to give his side well-won victory by 4-2.

Chipmunks—Mr. P. McCann, Mr. W. Tyrrell, Mr. J. L. Martin, Mr. W. Magee.

Stallion Nominations : The Stewards' Cup : Second July Sales Prospects

FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.

LONDON, Sunday Night.

THE AGA KHAN feels aggrieved over what he calls the uncalled for and unfair and unpleasant criticisms of his action in selling Blenheim to go to the United States over the heads of breeders who had taken nominations to him. These criticisms have been so pointed that His Highness has been forced to reply to them. That aspect of the matter is now concluded, but there will be an almost inevitable sequel in that the whole system of taking nominations to sires will be tightened up.

For a great many years there has been a certain laxity in this respect, and arrangements have more often than not been on the basis of what is called a gentleman's agreement. Probably in future all the important agreements, so far as expensive sires are concerned, will be put on a strictly legal basis. Several stud masters feel that the whole subject of the relationship between owners of sires and owners of mares calls for entire revision.

The Stewards' Cup

When the weights for the Stewards' Cup appeared last week what struck most people was the extraordinary fact that no fewer than five three-year-olds were handicapped with more than 8st. In the long history of the race it has been won by only one second season horse carrying more than 8st., and that was the extraordinary Epinard. Actually this time a three-year-old filly, Ballywellbroke, is given 8st. 11lb. She, however, has been struck out without waiting for the declaration of forfeit date, which is Tuesday, so she disappears from the scene. It would have been very hard to fancy the chance of the filly with this weight, and yet, I suppose, in making his adjustments, Mr. Arthur Fawcett had to put her where he did.

The French three-year-old, Limac, back for a time to his own country, and he has also been taken out. He ran well in the July Cup, and Bellacose had to go all out to get to him, but the handicapper seemed to have given him enough weight.

The three-year-olds remaining in are Wyndham (and I doubt whether he will be in after Tuesday), the consistent Crosspatch and the Irish colt, Flammarion.

Dancing Comet's Chance

The last-named won his first four races in Ireland last year, but has not won any of his races in England this season. From what I have seen of him I would prefer the chance of another in the same stable, Dancing Comet, with 7st. 12lb. The latter impressed a good deal a few weeks ago at Sandown by the way he ran on to finish third.

Finalist is top-weight, but his trainer, Captain Bell, has also last year's winner, Greenore, in the race as well as the three-year-old, Constellate, and until we know the intentions of the stable it is not worth while discussing their respective chances.

Two that will be fancied are Solerina and the Lincolnshire winner, Over Coat, who are handicapped on their form at the First July meeting when they were second and third to Slap and Tickle. Over Coat comes out a little the better, and I can see him developing into a much fancied candidate, for I am sure that he is a trifle better at six furlongs than at a mile. It would not be surprising to see him made favourite for the race when the first call-over of the card takes place.

Second July Sales

The Second July meeting begins at Newmarket on Tuesday, but the racing will not be as interesting as that at the last meeting there. It is a little doubtful at the moment whether Lord Astor's Early School will be started against Night Song in the Chesterfield Stakes on Thursday. The sales, too, will not be as important as those of a fortnight ago. They never are at the Second July meeting, though Newmarket is becoming more and more important as a yearling market.

The number of horses in training in the catalogue is bigger than usual, as those of the late Mr. Henry Sutton are coming up by order of his executors, and Mr. George Cloke, who is returning to New Zealand, is selling all his. They number twenty-four, as well as some ponies. Lord Lonsdale is selling his mares and foals, owing to the necessity of closing the paddocks. They number six, and high prices will not be realised.

Sister to Windsor Lad

That judicious breeder, Mr. Alfred Barclay, will probably be getting good prices, but the star of the sales may be Mr. Dan Sullivan's filly by Blandford out of Resplendent, and, therefore, an own sister to Windsor Lad.

The July Stakes at Lingfield yesterday did not cut up quite as badly as the Lingfield Park Trial Plate on the previous afternoon. There was 60 sovs. for the second and 30 sovs. for the third, so Barrystar, who ran in the Irish Derby, was sent in the morning from adjacent Epsom, and he collected the 60 sovs., Mr. Marshall Field, the Owner of Enfield, having to be content with the third money. Odds of 9 to 4 were asked for about Caymanas, and Mr. Baillie's horse won very easily.

Enfield, as might have been expected, was outpaced when they accelerated in the straight. Barrystar then went to the front, but, inside the distance, Caymanas went past him, and beat him by three lengths.

Milady Smith, who is by Milesius, was bred at the Straffan Station stud, and, when sent to Doncaster, only made 120 guineas to Mr. Morgan Blair, who bought her for his friend and patron, the late Mr. Michael Stephens. When Mr. Stephens died he left her to Mr Blair, who won with her at Newbury, and bought her in for 510 guineas. He was not allowed to keep her yesterday after she had won the Starboro' Plate; for, after fast and furious bidding, she was knocked down to Mr. Corlette Glorney for 1,000 guineas.

Member Wins Cleverly

There was an interesting race for the Great Foal Plate, and here the favourite, Mr. J. B. Joel's Member, was a clever winner by a head from Fourth Floor. The latter had beaten everything in the Queen Mary Stakes, except Night Song, who had finished four lengths in front of her, and her failure here, coupled with the fact that she only finished half-a-length in front of Diplomat, who was giving her 13lb., seemed to discount the form of all those that finished behind Mr. Jock Whitney's filly at Ascot.

Diplomat was waited with, and he ran on strongly, but the weight beat him, and then the favourite, beautifully ridden by Carslake, ran the other out of it. The winner, who is by Papyrus, had finished second to Le Grand Duc at Newbury, and third to The Hour at Ascot, so the form was high-class.

Backers had a set-back in the Imberhorne Handicap, where the 7 to 4 chance, Stanzo, was beaten out of a place, and the race went to an unfancied one, Ice Wheel, trained by Charles Waugh for the Liverpool cotton broker, Mr. Arthur Buston. The winner, a three-year-old by the versatile Six Wheeler, had run five times unplaced this season. Here she was ridden by W. Wing, and was an easy winner by a length from Salene.

Another outsider, Mr. Arthur Sainsbury's Veinarde, who started at 100 to 8, won the last race of the afternoon, the Tandridge Court Welter. She had been running at distances over a mile, but here she found her level, and was an easy winner from Nuns' Chorus and Vitality.

Selections

The Chepstow meeting will be continued to-morrow, when the Summer Stakes may be won by BATTLE GROUND. I like the chance of REEFER in the Lysaght Plate, and of DICK TAPPER in the Wye Valley Maiden Plate.

At Edinburgh the Summer Handicap may be won by RASHIEGRAIN, and the Glenfuir Plate looks a good thing for CARISSA.

GALTEE MORE.

CULTRUMER AGAIN

Almeria Wins Chief Race at Leopardstown

DESPITE many counter-attractions of an outdoor character, there was a very satisfactory attendance at Leopardstown on Saturday, and an attractive card provided some excellent racing. Of the seven runners for the Sandyford Steeplechase five hold engagements in the Galway Plate, but the winner, Cultrumer, is not one of them. Mr. P. J. Leonard's gelding, whose penalty of 7lb. for the Baldoyne win was virtually nullified through the services of the apprentice rider, A. P. Prendergast, being procured, again made all the running and, as at Baldoyle, outjumped all the others, and stayed on just well enough to gain a head victory from Pucka Shikari.

Southernmore, who won last year's Galway Plate, ran well up to a stage, but found the impost of 12st. 10lb. too much, and her rider, J. Hamey, did not unduly press her when he saw that her chances of winning were remote. She will have a 10lb. pull in the weights with Pucka Shikari at Galway over a course more suitable to her.

AN OUTSIDER SCORES

The two-year-old form only became more complicated by the victory of the outsider, Almeria, in the Killiney Plate. Mr. G. McElligott's filly was not so well fancied as her stable companion, Aviemore, but, staying on much the best of the field of nine runners, she won in decisive style. She is a full sister to Clicquot, who won so many races for the late Mr. R. J. Duggan. Tattershall, who started favourite, ran in most disappointing style and never appeared in the race with a winning chance.

Hat Guard's run of successes met with a check in the Stillorgan Plate, which was won by Lalique, Mrs. H. T. O'Neill's good horse, who was originally purchased with a view to stud purposes, had won four races off the reel, but the impost of 11st. 3lb. now proved too much and he never flattered.

Backers had on the whole an unpleasant experience at the meeting, but they made no mistake when declaring for Laitron in the Bray Maiden Plate. The Heath-trained filly was always in a good position in the race and her success was very readily achieved. Only Shady Lane and Escutcheon turned out for the Three Rock Plate, but the race was an interesting one, as Shady Lane, who was waited with by Joe Canty, had to be hard ridden out to the finish in order to win.

GALWAY PLATE POINTER

Lieutenant-Colonel S. S. Hill-Dillon, one of the Stewards of the I.N.H.S. Committee, rode his Galway Plate candidate, Yellow Furze, in the Tower Flat Race, and, though lying behind in the early stages of the race, the son of Yutoi, staying on well, overhauled and beat the favourite, Peaceful Princess, in a splendid finish. The winner will be a strongly-fancied candidate for the big Western steeplechase, in which she will be ridden by S. Magee. Details:—

VICTORY FOR INDIANS

C. K. Nayudu Causes Collapse in Ireland's Second Innings

HAVING left off in quite a good position at the close of Friday's play, in which they had got eight of the visitors' wickets down for 136 in reply to their total of 161, the Gentlemen of Ireland failed to maintain their advantage in the College Park on Saturday, and were decisively beaten by All India by ten wickets. With the exception of two short interruptions owing to showers, there was a full and highly interesting day's cricket, and the attendance during the afternoon reached large dimensions.

Features of the play were the bowling of C. K. Nayudu and the batting of V. M. Merchant and S. Wazier Ali, and to these three players All India chiefly owe their victory. The visitors' innings was quickly finished off for an addition of 14 runs, K. R. Meherhomji being smartly run out by F. M. Quinn, fielding in the gully, and Amir Elahi being bowled by J. C. Boucher. The last-named came out with the excellent figures of six wickets at a cost of 5 runs each, and James MacDonald, who bowled very well without meeting with much luck, had two for 47 runs. The tourists' innings was in progress altogether two and three-quarter hours.

Ireland, holding a lead of 11 runs, cut up badly in their second innings, and in two hours and twenty minutes were all out for 119. At one period it looked as if the total would be larger, as the half century went up before the second wicket fell. After the luncheon interval, however, they lost their grip on the game. Half the side were out for 85, and Nayudu, who was causing the batsmen considerable trouble, took the last three wickets in four balls for a single run.

D. R. Pigot and F. J. Reddy were the only batsmen to play with any degree of confidence. The Leinster man, in fourth wicket down, carried out his bat for 32, and it was a pity he could get no one to stay with him, as he was shaping really well. Pigot, who was held in the long field when 32, was lucky to survive a couple of chances. F. M. Quinn and James MacDonald also batted well. Nayudu, who kept a perfect length and made the ball break a lot, had the splendid analysis of seven wickets for 44 runs, and Merchant, who came on as a late change, got two for 23 runs.

Left with 131 to win in two and a half hours, the visitors, opening with S. Wazier Ali and V. M. Merchant, got the runs without loss half an hour from time. Both batsmen were reserved at the outset, and it took one and a quarter hours to send up the 50. As they got set, however, they hit with much freedom, and the second 50 only took thirty-five minutes to make. Merchant was the faster scorer, and at the close he had placed 71 to his credit. He batted with complete confidence, and his hits included one 6 and seven 4's. Wazir Ali also gave a fine display, and he had five boundaries in his 49. Boucher this time proved the most expensive bowler, as he had 47 runs hit off seventeen overs. Score:—

RISKO LOSES TITLE

NEW YORK, Sunday.

Eddie (Babe) Risko, who was knocked out in one round by Jock McAvoy some time ago, lost his world's middle-weight championship last night, when he was decisively beaten on points by Freddie Steele, of Washington, in a fifteen-round contest. Steele scored the only knock-down, flooring the champion for a count of six with a right to the jaw in the first round. Midway through the fight Steele opened up a cut over Risko's eye, and this handicapped the latter for the remaining rounds. Risko scaled 11st. 4lb. and his opponent 11st. 2½lb.

PRACTICE ROUNDS AT DOLLYMOUNT

TUNING-UP FOR THE IRISH OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP

BY OUR GOLF CORRESPONDENT.

A number of cross-Channel competitors in the Open Championship of Ireland will not arrive at Dollymount until this morning, but the great majority were on the links yesterday, when the opening practice rounds were played in very heavy rain.

The championship starts to-morrow with the first round of eighteen holes. A second eighteen will be played on Wednesday, and on Thursday the first 60 and ties for 60th place will contest the final 36 holes.

As the result of the last few weeks' rain the course is in splendid condition, but a continuance of the rain would likely have serious consequences. As a matter of fact, another downpour like yesterday's would probably leave a lot of surplus water lying about, particularly on the home green.

The rain-soaked turf and the new tees have made the course at least three strokes more difficult than it was in 1931, when E. W. Kenyon won with 291, or an average of, roughly, 72 per round. Nevertheless, some golfers think that 284, or even better, will be successful this week. But in the circumstances I believe that an average of anything less than fours will not do.

Seventy-two yards have been added to the holes out by lengthening the 3rd and 7th, and the holes in, with the new tees at the 12th, 13th, 14th and 15th, are 157 yards longer, so that the total added length is 229 yards. The effect of the stretching is most noticeable at the 3rd, 14th and 15th. Here are the distances for the championship ties:—

| Hole. | Yards. | Hole. | Yards. |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 | 394 | 10 | 404 |
| 2 | 470 | 11 | 524 |
| 3 | 407 | 12 | 190 |
| 4 | 146 | 13 | 458 |
| 5 | 408 | 14 | 481 |
| 6 | 185 | 15 | 470 |
| 7 | 358 | 16 | 240 |
| 8 | 440 | 17 | 375 |
| 9 | 160 | 18 | 410 |
| | 2,968 | | 3,552 |

Yesterday I followed a fourball in which at least two of the fancied competitors took part. I was interested in what one of them had to say about the course. "It is in grand condition," he remarked, "but they would not stand for a links like this in England." "The fairways," he added, "are so narrow; why, at my club the fairways are from that to that" (indicating a width of about 200 yards). "But," I asked him, "where have you the rough?" "We've no rough," he replied; "we don't want rough." Which, I venture to suggest, accounted for so many course "records" going by the board in recent years.

ROGERS'S THREE TITLES

Irish Davis Cup Player's Day Out at Fitzwilliam

BY OUR LAWN TENNIS CORRESPONDENT.

CONFIRMING the impression gained of his play throughout the week, George Lyttelton Rogers reached the top of his form on Saturday and won three Irish championship titles. The bad weather remained to the end, but only one centre court was used, between the two in use during the week, so the conditions were slightly better than they had been on Friday.

There was never any doubt about the way in which the men's singles final was going to end. Rogers had complete command of the court, and, playing very cleverly as well as with the utmost determination to give his young opponent no quarter, he gradually worked him out of position with sharply-angled drives or drop shots before clinching the point either with a length drive to which there could be no reply, or else by coming up and volleying the ball safely away. He held a big advantage on service, too, frequently scoring aces when he wanted them, and in every phase of play he made remarkably few mistakes.

A VAIN FIGHT

Only one of the world's best players could have beaten the Irishman on the soft court, and Mulliken has a long way to go yet. He hit drives, both backhand and forehand, which carried both pace and length, but he could seldom manœuvre Rogers out of position, and his few attempts to reach the net were generally frustrated. He tried very hard, but he was completely outplayed by an infinitely better player on the day.

There was a considerable gap, also, between the women's finalists, for Miss Lizana, after taking a few minutes to settle down, had a power of stroke that Miss Dicken could never match. The little Chilean hit the ball so crisply to the corners that Miss Dicken, always a trier, was frequently beaten outright by sheer pace and placing. Finding that her drop shot was an uncertain weapon, Miss Lizana seldom attempted it, but confined herself to hard driving, and covered the court at astonishing speed when necessary. Miss Dicken was a fighter, and she hit some fine cross-court forehand and backhand drives, but she netted the ball far too frequently on easy mid-court returns, and, as she is rather heavily built, she found some difficulty in getting about the baseline

THE WOMEN'S FINAL

The Chilean's superiority was shown by the sequence of games. The first two went to Miss Dicken, but Miss Lizana captured eleven of the next thirteen, which gave her the first set at 6-3, and brought her to 5-1 in the second. Then she appeared to take things easily, and with Miss Dicken still fighting courageously, two more games fell to the English girl, but that was her last reward.

The doubles provided more attractive and less one-sided tennis. The Irish Davis Cup pair proved the best of the men's combinations, and T. G. McVeagh won his first Irish title when he and Rogers beat the Austrians, G. von Metaxa and A. Baworowski by three sets to one. An accident right at the start nearly ruined the Irish pair's hopes, for both went to smash a lot, and McVeagh hit Rogers hard with his racket on the right hand. This affected Rogers's play throughout the first set, and when McVeagh lost his service at 5 all, the Austrians made the most of their opportunity.

MCVEAGH AT HIS BEST

Afterwards the Irishmen were right on top. McVeagh, without getting much sting into his volleying, placed the ball cleverly down the middle and was most consistent off the ground, while Rogers began to lend him strong support. It was on the ground shots that the Irishmen held a real advantage, for neither of the Austrians was consistent in this respect, and they gradually lost command of the net.

The mixed doubles provided quite an entertaining struggle, with Rogers the deciding factor. His driving and volleying was much more severe and consistent than von Metaxa's, while Miss Stoker netted a rather depressing number of service returns. Miss Lizana had her only bad patch of the day in the second set, but she and her partner had never much worry about the destination of the third set.

Miss Lizana just failed to emulate Rogers's feat in winning three titles, she and Miss V. E. Scott falling to the all-English combination of Miss O'Connell and Miss Dicken in the women's doubles final. The winners came from behind in each set to capture both, their driving and sound volleying beating an unreliable pair, Miss Scott, as usual, volleyed attractively, but she missed some from which she should have scored, and the Chilean's doubles play bears little comparison to her efficiency in singles.

Hans Nusslein (Germany) won the singles in the international professional championships at Southport on Saturday with a win by 6-3, 6-2, 6-2, over Henri Cochet (France). Cochet led at one-love in the first set, and Nusslein took five successive games, beating Cochet with accurately placed forehand drives. In the second set Nusslein led two-love and five-one, and only dropped a game through attempting unsuccessful spin shots.

He took the eighth game to love for the set, and built up a four-love lead in the third by exploiting drop shots. Cochet put many balls into the net. He rallied to take the next two games, and came up to the net in good style. Nusslein quickly recovered, and won the set, match and title taken by Ellsworth Vines (U.S.A.) last year.

The doubles championship was taken by R. Ramillon and Cochet (France) with a 7-5, 6-3, 5-7, 6-1. win over W. T. Tilden and L. R. Stoefen (U.S.A.).

Quinn, of the National C.C., beat the fifty miles competition record, this being the third time he has improved on the figures during the past two months. Although the wind was light, a good deal of rain fell during the progress of the race, and it would look as if Quinn has yet to do his best at this distance. The best times were:—

ALL-IRELAND TITLES AT THE DEPOT

At the Depot court yesterday, Kildare, represented by G. Ryan and H. Costello (Athy), defeated Dublin (P. Driscoll and V. Mullaney) by three games to two in the All-Ireland Junior Hard-ball Doubles Championship. Meath (A. Doyle and T. Tormay) were easy winners against Offaly (P. Murray and C. Conroy). The Kildare players were a strong partnership, and in a hard hitting contest the excellent service display of H. Costello was the deciding factor. P. Murray (Offaly), playing very fast low-running strokes experienced little difficulty when in a straight game All-Ireland Junior Hard-ball Singles rubber he defeated A. Doyle (Meath).

Dublin, represented by A. Clarke in Singles, with J. Ryan and J. Hughes in Doubles, were awarded walk-overs against Westmeath in the All-Ireland Junior Soft-ball Singles and Doubles.

The Dublin Senior Hard-ball Doubles County championship semi-final resulted in a victory for F. O'Reilly (Collins), the All-Army and County singles champion and his brother, E. O'Reilly (St. Joseph).

KENILWORTH BEATEN BY TWO SHOTS

The outstanding feature in Saturday's games was the first League defeat of Kenilworth by Clontarf, the latter winning by the narrow margin of two shots. This defeat leaves it a neck-and-neck race between Kenilworth and Leinster for the League championship. A keenly contested game at Park avenue resulted in Leinster beating Railway Union by 9 shots. In the Junior League Clontarf "B" beat Kenilworth "B," and Leinster "B" beat Portrane. Details:—

RINGSEND REGATTA

Choppy Water Handicaps Crews on Outside Station

THE weather conditions for the concluding day of the Dublin Metropolitan regatta were very unsatisfactory. A strong breeze and occasional showers made the outside station very choppy, with the result that crews rowing from it were considerably handicapped and shipped a lot of water.

Although most of the crews got safely home, Dublin University were not so fortunate. Rowing against U.C.D. in the final of the Metropolitan Challenge Cup, they had gone only 300 yards when they were swamped and University College were left to finish alone.

Carrick-on-Shannon and Methodist College (Belfast) were ordered to re-row the race, but Carrick-on-Shannon could not procure a boat and they were forced to scratch.

The unbeaten maiden four of Dublin University put in one of the best finishes seen on the Liffey for many years in the final of the Civic Cup. Drogheda led them to the fishery steps, where Trinity made their effort and gradually drew level, and after a great race for the last one hundred yards Trinity passed the judge two lengths in front. This crew will likely go through the season undefeated, as also will their maiden eight, who beat University College by two and a half lengths.

St. Ignatius R.C., Galway, in their first entry for the Metropolitan Schools' Cup, gave a very polished display in beating Rockwell College (holders) by two lengths. Both the junior fours and junior eight went to Drogheda, who won the junior eight championship on Thursday last.

The feature of the past week's rowing was the wonderful performance of the Dublin University crews, who at the Boyne and Ringsend won thirteen trophies. Details:—

POULTRY, FISH, CAGE BIRDS, DAIRY.

BOXES AND COOPS.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times, the Poultry Correspondent says:—

Even on farms where only natural hatching methods are in vogue there will be much to be done by way of cleaning up the sitting-boxes and coops, and also in clearing down the interior of the building while the boxes have been removed to the outside for their overhauling. In doing this, the first thing should be to remove and burn all old nesting material, and avoid the fatal mistake of leaving the litter to remain in the nests until next season.

In addition to the putting away of all the equipment in spick and span condition for next season, there will be bolts to be settled on houses, leaks to be stopped on roofs, holes to be filled in floors, locks to be oiled and hinges to be adjusted, not to mention the outdoor creosoting and indoor treatment of the permanent quarters. So while the days are long make the most of them, and avoid rushing against time later on.
